Time to get back to the issues; Ryan

by KURT BAER

James T. Ryan has been Arlington Heights village president for six months, but he still has not stopped running.

The 40-year-old Ryan is not campaigning for reelection, but he has had to hustle to stay on top of two extraordinary issues that focused areawide interest on the village — the Chicago Bears football stadium and the Viatorian low-income housing plans.

Now, with those projects in a state of suspended animation, Ryan says he has time to get back to the campaign issues that elected him in April.

One of his priorities will be an as yet unscheduled referendum to change the election of village trustees from the present at-large system to one of geographical districts.

"THE OVERWHELMING majority of people in this community want their officials elected by geographic area, there's no question about it," he says. "People feel this is a more responsive way to elect trustees."

Scheduling a referendum to change the form of government ultimately will be up to the village board, Ryan said, adding that he does not believe the vote should have to wait until the next village board election in 1977.

"If the board should decide not to call a referendum, I am certain there will be citizen petitions (for a referendum)."

There will be organized opposition to the proposed change, he concedes. "But the biggest argument against it is the old argument against change."

Details of how the change to district representation will be made if the vote is favorable remain to be studied.

ONE CHANGE ALREADY evident is a new partisanship that has divided the nine-member board of trustees since the April election.

In most cases where the board is split, the division is between the three trustees who were closely linked to the Caucus Party in the last election — Dave Griffin, Alice Harms and Madeline Schroeder — and the independents led by Ryan.

"There is a greater degree of partisanship today than in the past, and I think there are several reasons for it," Ryan says.

He cites the larger size of Arlington Heights and the increased complexity of its problems, as well as the dramatic contrast between the 1973 and 1975 village elections.

"In the space of two years we went from an election (1973) where there was no opposition and few votes cast to an election (1975) when more people voted than ever before in the village's history," he says.

The party division is a hindrance to the board's operation, he says, because "very few of the issues that come before us are legiti mate partisan questions. They're not Jim Ryan issues, or Alice Harms issues."

FOR EXAMPLE, abolition of the village's 5 per cent utility tax was advocated by both Ryan and Griffin in their campaigns. Despite his vote in July to use the utility tax for an $800,000 public works garage, Ryan says he still believes the tax should go because it is disproportionately burdensome to homeowners.

"I intend to try actively to get rid of it. But at the same time we should not be short-sighted. The revenue, about $1.3 million, has to be made up. But I think there certainly are more equitable ways to get the money."

An increasingly important source of income is money that comes from the federal government, including revenue sharing, which could face substantial opposition in Congress, Ryan says.

He also says he will urge that the village board apply for 1976 U.S. Housing and Community Development Act funds. This year, the board voted to pass up $125,000 available to the village under the community development act. Next year, Arlington Heights is entitled to $295,000, and to nearly $500,000 for each of the four years after that.

Ryan, who voted to apply for the $175,000 first year allocation, says the village board "missed the boat" when it let fears of possible "strings" tied to the money block its application.

"I THINK IT WAS a mistake and an expensive one because it would have returned revenue that should have come back to the community," he says.

One requirement of the community development act forces local communities to file a housing assistance plan for low and moderate income persons. The condition could be made moot if the U.S. Supreme Court refuses to review a lower court decision ordering construction of 190 townhouses for low income families next to St. Viator High School.

"The Viatorian case involves a situation of major significance nationwide," Ryan says, appointing to the U.S. Court of Appeals

Report hits budegted services

Elderly, youth program cuts proposed by panel

Elimination of some village services for the elderly and a phasing out of several youth programs is being recommended by the Special Committee on Social Services.

Former Village Pres. Ralph Clarbour, committee chairman, will present the interim report and recommendations to the village board Monday.

The five major proposals concentrated on programs for the young and the elderly. There were recommendations that while the village stop providing money for some programs, other governmental bodies, primarily the townships, pick up the funding.

THE COMMITTEE recommendations cover only those items already included in the village budget. Clarbour said the committee did not touch upon projects or items previously rejected by the trustees for funding.

The committee voted to recommend the village discontinue the subsidized taxi service for senior citizens. The decision was made in view of the shuttle bus service offered by Wheeling Township.

The committee's report will recommend that a senior citizens' center not be funded by the village.

Proposals had been made that a drop-in center be established in either the planned senior citizens' housing development on Wing Street or in a village-owned house on Vail Avenue across from the Memorial Library.

Ralph Clarbour

A temporary continuation of funds for the youth service program will be called for, but with a gradual elimination over a period of several years. While the village is withdrawing from the program, the report recommends that the townships pick up the funding for it.

IN A BUDGETARY move, Clarbour said the money for the Youth Uplift program should come from the police department's budget. Clarbour said the police department has the "closest hand, the most contact" with the peer group counseling service.

The Arlington Heights Park District should eventually assume funding responsibility for the Counselor-in-the-Park program, the report recommends.

The program, administered by the parks with village money, places professional counselors in the six major parks during the summer to help curb vandalism and other youth-related problems.

Clarbour stressed the report carries only recommendations and the final decision will come from the trustees.

ALL OF THE recommendations came on split votes.

Clarbour said he expected and encouraged minority opinion reports from other committee members to round out the picture of the group's deliberations. He said he expected some dissenters from the majority view to make their position known.

In addition to presenting the committee report, Clarbour said he would ask the trustees for further direction for his committee.

The future direction could include an examination of combining village social service committees and commissions. The village commissions on youth, the aged, housing and culture might be joined into one social service commission.

It has been suggested that if the village merge the commissions, a professional coordinator should be hired to oversee the operations.

Clarbour said he hoped the committee would have its final report prepared for the board by the end of the year. He said the information should be on hand in time for next year's budget considerations.

McDougall choice for chief post

Capt. Irvin McDougall, a 25-year Arlington Heights police veteran, is the top contender for police chief of Mendota, Ill.

McDougall, head of the detective bureau, became the second Arlington Heights police captain to be considered for a police chief post within the past month. Capt. Jack Aldrich leaves the department Nov. 1 to take over the helm of the Barrington Hills Police Dept.

McDougall said he was called Wednesday by Mendota Mayor Murray Reeser and was told he would be considered Monday by the city council for the position. There were 35 applicants for the top spot on the 12-man department.

THE SOFT-SPOKEN McDougall, 49, said however, there was some doubt about when he could start in Mendota, which is about 85 miles

Scott files suit to cut train noise

Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott filed suit in federal court Wednesday seeking to force the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to set limits on railroad noise. Scott said under the Federal Noise Control Act, the EPA was supposed to establish regulations affecting railroads and other sources of noise by Oct. 25, 1973. Scott said the EPA finally came up with proposed regulations last July, but no final version has been decided yet. Richard Cosby, head of Scott's environmental control division, said Illinois is not trying to dictate what form the rules take. "We just want to get some rules," he said.

Centel strike ends; pact OKd

A 15-week-old strike by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 336 against the Central Telephone Co. has ended. Union members Wednesday night voted by a better than 4-to-1 margin to accept a new contract calling for a 13.7 per cent salary increase for all employes. Union membership voted 514 to 122 to accept the new 34-month contract which Union Pres. Thomas L. Beagley called "livable." The pact also called for a cost-of-living increase each of the last two years of the contract.

Teachers cut wage demands

Des Plaines Dist. 62 teachers have dropped their salary increase demands from 18 to 10 per cent after months of negotiation with school board representatives. The teachers' request would raise the base salary for beginning teachers from $9,350 to $10,285 Dennis Anderson, union president, said Wednesday. He said the board has not put any salary offer on the table since last spring when teachers were offered a $400 across-the-board salary hike. Anderson said teachers also want extra duty pay increase from $125 to $150, but the school board has not made a counter offer yet.

Terry cloth traps polluters

Elk Grove Township officials are using terry-cloth "traps" to locate polluters of its sanitary sewer system in the Oakton Industrial Park. Township Secretary Nita Stamm, head of the environmental committee, said terry-cloth will pick up colors and odors from pollutants in the system and could help identify those industries dumping them into the system. The traps were put into 28 inspection sewers within the industrial park, which is situated on both sides of Oakton Street between Elmhurst Road and the Northwest Tollway. Eight of the detection devices were tested earlier this week and showed signs of dumping, Mrs. Stamm said.

8.5% pay hike for workers

Public works employes in Des Plaines have voted to accept an 8.5 per cent increase in salary and fringe benefits offered them by the city. Richard Brown, president of the local Assn. of Independent Municipal Employes, which represents about one fourth of the city's workers, said the package was approved by a substantial majority. Des Plaines Mayor Herbert H. Behrel said the city agreed to the salary and benefit package on the recommendation of outside mediators and said the new contract will be extended to the city's 100 nonunion workers as well. The city's fire police and public works employes have been working without contracts since May 1.

Ford spending, tax cut link impossible: Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats argued Wednesday it is impossible to tie federal spending cuts to tax cuts and President Ford knows it. But they invited him nevertheless to expand on his idea.

Ford has proposed that taxes be cut $28 billion and that federal spending be reduced correspondingly.

"He's asking the impossible and he knows it," Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said in Pittsburgh, where he had gone for a speech to a Rotary Club.

"We are asked to buy a pig in a poke," Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said in Washington on a dio interview (CBS' Capitol Cloakroom).

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford has given some department heads the guidelines for spending cuts but cannot disclose them to Congress right now "because it's the only way you can put the damned budget together."

Labor Secretary John Dunlop, an early advocate of extending the 1975 tax cut, indicated no strong enthusiasm for tying tax and budget cuts together.

Dunlop said he has received the administration's proposed cuts in the Labor Department budget. "They came to me and said save us 'x' dollars," Dunlop said. He refused to say how big a cut the administration proposed, but indicated it was so stringent that it might be impossible to accomplish.

Describing the process by which Ford arrived at his proposal, Dunlop said the President decided to add extra relief for the people who earn between $10,000 and $25,000 because of his concern for "middle America."

Ullman said his committee hopes to complete within a month legislation that ties an extension of tax cuts into tax reform. But as for tying the tax relief to a federal budget limit, "What the President is asking is impossible," Ullman said? "To do it before you even see the budget is just totally irresponsible."

Byrd said, "It's unrealistic, impracticable and may even be unconstitutional to tie budget cutting to a tax cut, with one Congress binding a subsequent Congress." He referred to the fact the tax rate changes would be operating at the first of the year, but the budget would not take effect until the fiscal year starts in July.

Elsewhere on the economic scene:

A surge in August auto sales sparked a $1.3 billion rise in business inventories to end a six-month downward trend, the Commerce Department said.

Many businesses across the nation have been selling goods on hand for months and have not been reordering to fill the gaps in inventories.

The first upward swing in inventory building since January indicated that business and industry have sold most available supplies and were ordering new stocks.

Commerce said the August jump in inventories was accompanied by a rise in industrial production and job opportunities. Nearly 350,000 factory workers have now been rehired in the past two months.

Law officers scale down hunt for last fugitive

SALEM, Ill. (UPI) — Law enforcement officers Wednesday scaled down their intensive search in southern Illinois and called off a 10-hour manhunt in southwestern Indiana for the lone remaining fugitive from an ingenious five-man break from a federal maximum security prison.

FBI agents, Illinois state police and sheriff's officers dismantled their command post at rural New Bethel Presbyterian Church east of Salem after one last sweep by dogs and search teams for convict Dennis D. Hunter.

Indiana state police said they were giving up, at least temporarily, a search for Hunter in rugged and desolate country about 115 miles northwest of Salem.

Leaders of the four-day search in wooded countryside near Salem said it appeared Hunter had eluded them and probably had hopped a freight train into Indiana with his close friend, cop-killer Henry M. Gargano, who was picked up Tuesday near Bloomfield, Ind.

Indiana state police, aided by sheriff's officers, canine units and a helicopter, searched parts of Greene, Daviess and Martin counties for 10 hours Wednesday but failed to turn up a lead to the fugitive's whereabouts. At midday the search leaders said the manhunt was canceled "until we receive some further information."

Davies County Sheriff Everett Beasley said canine units from nearby Crane Naval Ammunition Depot were thrown into the hunt on the strength of a report that a strange man had been seen walking in a woods.

Hunter, 23, Salem, Ohio, was serving a 25-year term for kidnaping, assault on a federal officer and escape when he, Gargano and three other prisoners — using a homemade remote control transmitter and receiver to open two grilled doors — walked to freedom Friday night from the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion, Ill.

Convict Arthur T. Mankins, Germanton, N.C., was seized Sunday when the fleeing band cracked up a stolen car near Salem. Escapers Ed Roche, Katonah, N.Y., and Maurice Philion, Oakland, Calif., were picked up separately Monday night near Salem.

In announcing that searchers were abandoning the intensive Salem area search, FBI Special Agent Victor R. Schaefer said: "It looks like he (Hunter) got out of the area. I don't know how . . . We're not ending the search, but we're expanding it to his friends, to his old haunts."

Illinois State Police Sgt. Charles W. Wilbur said, "Hunter and Gargano were very close friends. If one got on the train, both got on the train."

ARMED POLICE walk railroad tracks and woods in Salem, Ill. area during hunt for Dennis Hunter, last of five fugitives who broke out of the maximum security penitentiary in Marion. Law officers have scaled down their intensive search, believing Hunter has eluded them.

Kissinger refuses to comply with subpoena

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Wednesday refused to comply with a subpoena from the House Intelligence Committee demanding a memorandum from a lower echelon official criticizing the State Department for mismanagement of the 1974 Cyrpus crisis.

Asked in Ottawa about his response to the subpoena, Kissinger said: "We will not submit documents even with or without names. We may provide summaries of all the dissenting views from all sources. No officers recommendations will be submitted with or without names. We are prepared to give a general summary of all views on this subject, but we are not going to segregate individual opinions."

Nine Marines were killed Wednesday in the flaming crash of a twin-engine training plane that apparently suffered a motor failure on takeoff. The craft, a propeller-driven TC4C, was taking student navigators aloft for training when it faltered and crashed alongside the runway at the Marine Corps Air Station in Cherry Point, N.C.

Hoffa's son reports threatening phone call

James P. Hoffa, son of the former president of the Teamsters Union, said Wednesday that he receied a threatening telephone call several days after his father disappeared July 30. Hoffa denied a published report, however, that he told the FBI he thought the call came from Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, self-described foster son of the missing James R. Hoffa. The younger Hoffa said he did not know who made the call.

Israeli chiefs hint Syria war possibility

Israeli military and political leaders Wednesday raised the possibility of war with Syria once the U.N. mandate on the Golan Heights expires, with the chief of military intelligence predicting Jordan's entry into the fighting. Foreign Minister Yigal Allon said Damascus might resort to a military option to force international intervention in the Middle East, but he did not explain if he meant a possible confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Heavy fighting flares across Beirut

Heavy fighting, involving rival Christian and Moslem militias as well as Palestinians, flared across Beirut Wednesday and kept the streets of the Lebanese capital deserted. Hopes faded for an end to a four-week-long round of civil warfare as at least 12 persons died in an upsurge of fighting in eastern Beirut and in the downtown sector.

Watergate prosecutors' work revealed

Nixon was nearly indicted—twice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Authorities were convinced they could prosecute President Richard M. Nixon for the Watergate cover-up, but elected not to indict him for fear of triggering a constitutional crisis that could impede impeachment, it was revealed Wednesday.

Once Nixon resigned, according to the first public report of the prosecutors' work, his criminal indictment virtually was assured — then President Ford pardoned Nixon for all crimes committed during his presidency.

The nearly 300-page report, issued on the eve of the departure of the third man to hold the special prosecutor's job, broke no new ground in the massive political scandal that rocked the nation and drove Nixon from office in disgrace 14 months ago.

But it proclaimed publicly for the first time the belief of the Watergate Special Prosecution Force that Nixon was involved in a criminal conspiracy sufficient to warrant prosecution.

It was Nixon's own words, etched on tape, "which showed him to be a participant in the cover-up," the report said.

The unsigned report — for sale for $2.65 — summarizes the work of Special Prosecutors Archibald Cox, Leon Jaworski, Henry S. Ruth Jr. and their staffs since the office was set up some 28 months ago. The office compiled a record of five dozen convictions, including those of many high government officials.

Ruth leaves Thursday to join the Urban Institute and will be succeeded by Charles Ruff, a staff attorney who will handle the few remaining investigations and appeals on a part-time basis. Thus far the report said, Watergate investigations have cost more that $5.5 million.

Among the mysteries left unsolved are who caused the infamous 18½ minute gap on a crucial Watergate tape, and whether the Nixon White House deliberately tampered with transcripts provided for the impeachment inquiry. The report said criminal responsibility was impossible to prove.

Calling Watergate the "insidious climax" to years of growing governmental abuse of power, the report urged a strengthening of laws to guard against future crises — including a constitutional amendment to clarify when a president may be prosecuted.

In an interview, Ruth said there was "never a firm decision to proceed with criminal action against Nixon."

But the report clearly indicated the prosecutors were on the verge of an indictment twice — once in January, 1974 when evidence of his involvement in the cover-up seemed sufficient; and again at the time of his resignation eight months later when he released long-suppressed tape transcripts that proved it.

The prosecutors concluded after research and "intense debate" that there was no constitutional bar to indicting a president. But Jaworski, according to the report, felt the Supreme Court "would not uphold an indictment" and that the constitutional struggle would thwart the impeachment process already under way.

The grand jury settled instead for naming Nixon an unindicted co-conspirator and their evidence against him was sent to the House Judiciary Committee for the impeachment probe.

Nixon in early August released long-suppressed tape transcripts that showed how he blocked the Watergate investigation within days after the June 17, 1972 bugging at Democratic headquarters. These became the "smoking gun" that ended his chances of surviving impeachment and virtually clinched his indictment.

"These transcripts showed his early involvement in the cover-up, and belied contrary claims he had repeatedly made to the public and to the Congress," the report said.

It said that immediately after the resignation Aug. 9, 1974, Nixon's lawyer came to Jaworski and pleaded that the former President not be indicted because of "massive publicity."

Jaworski, estimating it could be one year before trial, decided to take no action until after the jury was sequestered in October in the cover-up trial of five former top Nixon aides. But on Sept. 8 Ford granted Nixon an absolute pardon.

The report said there was "extensive discussion" among the prosecutors about challenging the pardon in court. But Jaworski decided this would be "intellectually dishonest" and resigned Oct. 12, saying his work was done.

The report also noted that "several hundred separate matters" were investigated by the office, and that no one was charged with a crime unless it was believed a conviction would result.

Presidential hopefuls spend $11 million on '76 race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Election day is more than a year away, but 13 presidential contenders have already raised more than $13 million and spent nearly $11 million of that amount on the 1976 race, official reports showed Wednesday.

Reports filed at the Federal Election Commission show the campaigns of former Gov. Ronald Reagan and four of the prominent Democratic contenders are running in the red, largely because of expensive fund raising efforts.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is the big spender in the early campaigning. Wallace raised $5.2 million for the 1976 race and has already spent $4.5 million, most of it on costly computerized mail fund raising.

The four Democratic presidential contenders in financial trouble were Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma and former Govs. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

They could be bailed out by the government if they qualify, as they contend they do, for federal matching campaign funds under the campaign reform act.

The only Democrat in relatively strong shape financially is Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, who has saved $1.2 million of the $2.8 million he has raised. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., has managed to raise $1.8 million, but has held on to only $155,000 of the total.

Reagan's campaign, which officially is still very young, showed a minus balance, although probably because an expensive mail fund-raising effort has not yet borne fruit. Reagan reported raising $396,462, while spending $486,591, counting his debts.

President Ford's committee reported raising $706,926, and had $426,627 left after spending $280,298.

Three new Democratic contenders showed they were off to fast starts in the money race. Sargent Shriver raised $189,725 and had a cash balance of $66,918; Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania raised $111,742 and had a balance of $20,404, and Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana reported raising $81,782 and had a balance of $60,399.

In other political news:

• A group of "New Politics" Democrats accused party chairman Robert S. Strauss of working to stifle dissent at the 1976 national convention and said they might sue him to force compliance with reform rules.

• Eugene McCarthy's campaign manager asked Treasury Secretary William Simon to order Secret Service protection for the independent presidential candidate, despite an advisory committee's recommendation against it.

• Alabama Gov. George Wallace, showing no strain except when sliding from his wheelchair into his limousine, said Wednesday his 13-day European tour was meant to show American voters he is physically fit to be president.

"My knowledge from here (Arlington Heights) will definitely be an asset in a smaller community," said McDougall. "Mendota is about the size Arlington Heights was when I first started."

Since McDougall donned a police uniform, he has wanted to be a police chief. "I want to be able to prove I can administer to improve a police department."

McDougall is well known in the state. He is the past president of the Illinois Police Assn. and a member of the Illinois Local Governments Law Enforcement Training Board, which sets up training curricula.

HIS LAW ENFORCEMENT career dates back before he joined the Arlington Heights department in 1950. He was a state trooper for two years in Dist. 3, which includes the Northwest suburbs, drawing strike, flood and state fair duty.

McDougall said he got into police work because it was oriented to helping people and that his family had always been community minded. He was the first patrolman hired under the fire and police commission tests.

He has worked in every division of the department — patrol, traffic, juvenile and detective. He was promoted to captain in 1972.

He is a former instructor for the Northwest Police Academy and a member of the Illinois Assn. of Chiefs of Police.

Back to the issues: Ryan

decision overruling the village's zoning power on an issue of alleged racial discrimination.

"I think the (Supreme) Court will hear the case. Irrespective of the way the court will decide, I think it ought to grant the (village's) petition.

That the Lincoln Green low-income housing development may be built despite the village's zoning objections has been "one more additional pressure as far as the office (of village president) is concerned," Ryan says.

BUT THE OVERRIDING issue in Ryan's first 180 days as village president has been the proposal to build a 76,000-seat Chicago Bears football stadium at Arlington Park Race Track.

"The stadium thing has taken almost an inordinant amount of time to date," Ryan says.

The village board voted unanimously Oct. 6 to reject public financing for the stadium and put an end at least for now, to the project.

"I don't know if we gained anything out of it," Ryan says of the five month controversy. "The race track property is going to be developed eventually. It's not going to remain the way it is for time immemorial, and people have to realize that."

The Chicago news media's focus on the stadium proposal gave Ryan a public exposure rarely afforded a suburban official. But Ryan denies the publicity whetted his appetite for higher office.

He disclaimed any interest in running for the Illinois Legislature or the U. S. Congress.

"I believe that if you're doing a good job in the office that you hold you don't have to go looking for other jobs. The office will seek you out."

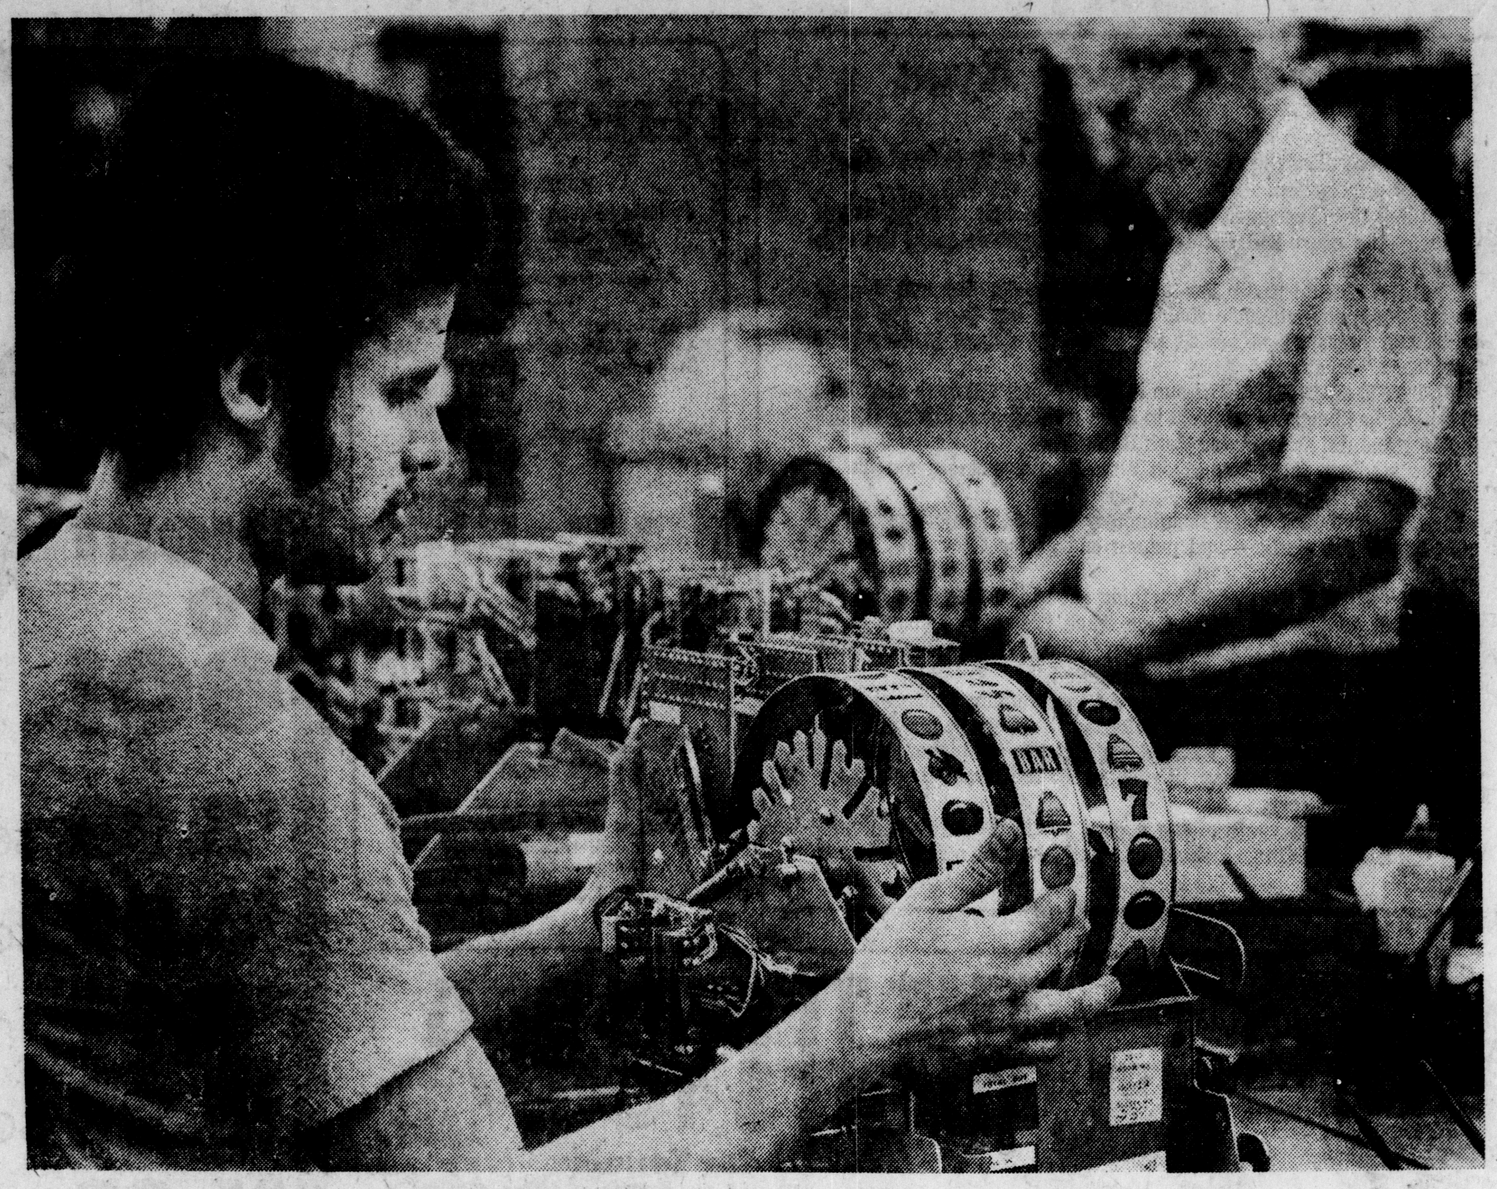
Bill Tomlinson always plays for free.



Slot machines are adjusted to return 85 per cent of the coins deposited

'Masked Marvel' king of the slots

by KURT BAER

Fifteen years ago Bill Tomlinson was in the sweat-soaked ring fighting off body slams and half nelsons as a professional wrestler called the "Masked Marvel."

Today he grapples with prejudicial myths, unconstitutional laws and misdrawn stereotypes under the banner of the "One-Armed Bandit."

Tomlinson, an Arlington Heights resident, is general counsel and chief lobbyist for the Bally Manufacturing Co., Chicago, world's largest maker of coin-operated slot machines.

He is a mountain of a man who has gambled more than once with his life and, so far, come out a winner.

TOMLINSON ADMITS that slot machines have an image problem. But he thinks his company "has passed the point in time where there were doubts about who owned the operation." Bally was recently admitted to the New York Stock Exchange and certified by the Nevada Gaming Board after extensive investigations. It is Tomlinson's job "to make sure we deal with ethical people around the world."

Bally operates in 30 foreign countries and, by virtue of its pinball machine manufacture business, in every state of the union.

This year alone, Tomoinson has traveled to Australia, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Alaska, Japan, Guam, Spain, Honolulu and, of course, Las Vegas.

"By default, I've become an expert on legalized gambling," he says.

BECAUSE HE REGARDS most gaming as a so-called "victimless crime," Tomlinson says most of the state and local laws prohibiting gambling today are founded on hypocrisy and moralism that contradicts the facts.

"Thirty-seven states have bills in their legislatures which in some say are intended to expand the degree of legalized gambling," he says.

"There is evidence of gambling dating to the Egyptians. They gambled for Jesus' robes. So why not take it away from the alleged criminal interests, put it in a crucible where you can police it and tax it," he says.

Illinois has a bill pending that would legalize slot machines in service clubs, including American Legion and VFW halls where, allegedly, many illegal machines have been tucked away over the years.

"SLOT MACHINES aren't really a moral issue any more," says Tomlinson. "We passed that hurdle with the state lottery. And as for taking money out of the working man's pocket, he can go to the race track and blow a whole pay check on one horse race." The point is that penny, nickel or quarter slot machines are small time, almost marginal gambling that would be more properly classified as "amusements," he says.

In the agggregate, however, slot machines are big, big business. Last year in Nevada, the only U. S. state where the machines are legal, "slots" grossed more than $300 million, $10 million of which went to the state's educational fund.

Illinois could realize $35 million a year in taxes if the machines were legalized for service clubs.

As a former chief attorney in the U. S. Dept. of Justice's organized crime and racketerring division and the head of the office's "strike force" for Ohio and Kentucky, Tomlinson knows the ways of both legal and illegal gambling.

MANY OF THE attorneys in the justice department are anxious to bear down on labor racketeering, narcotics traffic and other pernicious crimes rather than spend their time busting up football parley card rings, he saus.

"No judge in the country wants to put the bettor in jail," he says. "The fellow who books football bets gets jailed while all the people, who every week sit around and figure out which teams to put money on, run away."

As formidable as the legal barriers to slot machines, the many local, state and federal laws on the use of pinball machines are worse, Tomlinson says.

"I have very little difficulty with "slots" figuring out what the laws are," he says. "But pinball is something else."

SOME TOWNS, LIKE Arlington Heights, allow the bumper machines provided they don't "pay off" with free games, or additional balls for a high score. Other municipalities ban the machines altogether.

"Why they can't give a free game is a mystery to me," says Tomlinson. "There are games out today where 4-and 5-year-olds can blow up model Egyptian tanks. That seems much worse to me."

Coin-operated machines are "still taking lumps from the 1930s" when they were invented, Tomlinson says. The Bally company takes its name from the first pinball machine in 1931 called "Ballyhoo."

Today, the company manufactures about 10 new models a year, providing jobs for 4,000 workers including a staff of five artists to design and decorate the tables.

It's hard to guess where Bill Tomlinson will go next.

He left the wrestling business in 1960 "because you don't like to end up on your back the rest of your life, or with your head smashed into a ring post."

IN 1966, HE left private law practice to volunteer for the Army in Vietnam — despite the fact he had completed his military obligation in 1958.

Capt. Tomlinson's awards for valor include the nation's second highest, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart and the Republic of Vietnam's second highest honor, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry Order of Palm.

"I guess I have something more than a mundane lawyer's job," he says today.

Well, what would you expect from a man who once called himself "the Masked Marvel?"

Mike Bakalis— vote-getter to job seeker

by WANDALYN RICE

A news analysis

In 1970 when fledgling politician Michael J. Bakalis upset Republican Ray Page in the race for state school superintendent, the young educator was considered one of the Democratic Party's most promising vote-getters.

Today, after losing out on an appointment as state superintendent under the new State Board of Education and being passed over for the job of heading the Chicago Public Schools, Bakalis, 37, is a politician looking for an office.

He has been out of office for 10 months and has been serving as a visiting professor at Northwestern University.

He is alienated from Gov. Daniel Walker's wing of the Democratic Party because of his opposition to many of Walker's policies and is not a favorite of the regular Democratic Party headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley. As he says, "If I were close to the (Daley) machine, I would be Chicago school superintendent today.

"ONE OF MY VERY clear options is not to run for anything this year," Bakalis said this week. "When you consider the fact that all the state offices are up for two year terms this year because of changes caused by the new state constitution), it wouldn't be that long before I would have a chance to run again."

Within the next three weeks, Bakalis said he will announce his intentions. And if he decides to run, it will be for lieutenant governor as part of a ticket working to defeat Gov. Daniel Walker.

He will only run for Lieutenant Governor if incumbent Neil Hartigan does not seek reelection, he said. Hartigan has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor who would run against Walker and State Treasurer Alan Dixon in a primary campaign.

"I would not run against Hartigan because he's a friend of mine and I think he's done a good job," Bakalis said.

IN ANTICIPATION of a bid for lieutenant governor, Bakalis has been meeting with supporters around the state to discuss fund-raising and has commissioned some state-wide polling to test his strength, he said.

"Even if the polls come out favorably, any office I could run for involves a primary fight," he said. "I'm fairly sure I could raise the money to run for lieutenant governor, but I admit, if I had the money I'd very much like to run against Gov. Walker."

Walker "has been a violation of people's expectations," Bakalis said. "I feel very strongly about him, but I'm enough of a realist to know I couldn't raise the amount of money necessary to run against him."

Bakalis said he does not regret losing the state superintendency to Joseph Cronin because he believes the state school board "just hasn't provided any leadership. Educators just aren't taking them seriously."

In addition, he said he does not regret losing the Chicago superintendency to Joseph Hannon considering the financial problems plaguing that school system.

The Chicago job was denied him, he said, "because like everything in Chicago, that is a political decision made by the Mayor. For some reason the Mayor chose to pick Joe Hannon. I haven't had the chance to ask him why and I don't think I will ever have that chance."

Confusion plagues courts: study

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT

Confusion, continuances and crowding stymie justice in courts throughout Cook County, a study by the League of Women Voters of Illinois and the Illinois Court Watchdog Project charged Wednesday.

The study of 16 Chicago and suburban courtrooms and of 26,000 court cases between March 3 and May 16 found:

• Assembly-line justice. "Hundreds of people were processed like so many cans of peas through the crowded courts . . . many of them with little or no understanding of what was happening . . ."

• Continuances on demand. Judges grant more than 98 per cent of continuance requests.

• Rude bailiffs in Chicago courts, incompetent judges and overburdened public defenders who lack time to confer with assigned defendants or to prepare complete defenses.

The study, financed by a $50,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, praised 11 suburban courts as "better" than Chicago courts, but also said suburban results "contrast unfavorably" with similar ratings of courts in Champaign and Warren counties.

Three Northwest suburban courts — branch 15 in Skokie of District 2, branch 3 in Niles of District 3 and branch 12 in Des Plaines of District 3 were included in the report. And District 3 Presiding Judge Anton A. Smigiel was interviewed by study researchers.

RESULTS OF the study correspond with a similar, computer investigation completed by The Herald in July.

The year-long Herald investigation of the disposition of drunken driving cases in Northwest suburban courts found an average conviction percentage of 30.5 continuances that delayed more than 45 per cent of DWI cases from three to six months and plea bargaining which allowed accused drunken drivers to escape loss of a driver's license in 38.7 per cent of trials.

League of Women Voters' court watchers recorded information about contiuances, the conduct of judges and court personnel and physical facilities as part of the study. The court watchers also were asked to "put yourself in the place of a defendant . . . would you have left with the feeling that justice was being fairly administered?"

More than 50 per cent of the court watchers answered "no" after studying Chicago courts. About 12 per cent who reported on suburban courts said "no," although similar downstate studies included 5 and 3 per cent "no" responses.

"On the credit side, monitors found that al lthe courts started within a few minutes of the scheduled time; that in most courts there was little evidence of prejudice against minorities; that clerks were nearly always hard working; that suburban bailiffs were unusually polite and helpful; that most judges were consistently courteous . . . and hardworking."

"BUT THE COURT watchers also found real problems," the study said.

Examples of problems found in suburban courts included:

• Des Plaines: "Several people stood before the judge and were unaware that their cases had been processed. The bailiff had to tell them to step down."

• Niles: "Judge . . . doesn't like people under 30 and shows it."

• Des Plaines: "Judge . . . started a.m. session by reading obituary of friend. At one point he yelled at an attorney who was walking away. Openly told state's attorney he was handling cases poorly. . ."

The study recommends use of "language a lay person understands" by suburban court judges, publication of a pamphlet that explains defendant rights and posting of rights notices in courtrooms, posting of court calendars, improved check-in procedures and addition of child-care rooms near courts.

Although the study — which was released Tuesday did not include the names of judges who were observed by court watchers, reports of the findings which include names of persons criticized, have been sent to county court officials, the ILEC, the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board, the Chicago Bar Assn. and the Chicago Council of Lawyers.

Judge denies misconduct charge

Associate Judge James Maher Jr. has denied misconduct charges by the Illinois Judicial Inquiry Board that he asked a woman for a luncheon date after summoning her to his chambers during a court session.

Maher, 42, made the denial in a legal response filed this week with the Illinois Courts Commission. The response denies that Maher allegedly called the wife of a defendant into his chambers and asked the woman to dine with him.

The inquiry board has charged the suburban 3rd District associate judge was involved in the incident May 21 in the Niles branch of Circuit Court. The board filed a complaint against Maher Sept. 19, charging the alleged conduct "brings the judicial office into disrepute."

A hearing on the charge will be held before the Illinois Courts Commission, but no date for the hearing has been set.

Penalty on the misconduct charge could range from a reprimand to dismissal if the Courts Commission rules against Maher. There can be no appeal of the decision.

Maher is being represented by the Chicago law firm of Walsh and Fielding.

Seeks state Supreme Court seat

Lindberg skips governor's race

State Comptroller George Lindberg announced Wednesday that he will bypass a race for governor this year and instead run for a seat on the Illinois Supreme Court.

Lindberg, 43, a Crystal Lake Republican, said he will seek the 2nd Judicial District seat which includes 13 Northern Illinois Counties outside of Cook County. The seat is being vacated by Justice Charles Davis of Rockford.

Lindberg, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor this year, said he may seek the governor's office after he leaves the Supreme Court.

IN ACCOUNCING his candidacy, he said, "This is an opportunity to do one of the two things I'd like to shoot for—serve on the Supreme Court and be governor."

He added, "I'll only be 54 when the 10-year term (on the court) is over in 1986 and that just happens to be a gubernatorial year."

Lindberg is the only person ever to hold the office of state comptroller, which was created by the 1970 Illinois Constitution. In recent weeks, he has been in a dispute with Gov. Daniel Walker over the financial condition of the state.

Lindberg has been saying the state's spending is exceeding the amount of revenue coming in. Last week the state's cash flow resulted in a surplus of just $78,000 for one day, a condition Lindberg said made the state "virtually broke."

Lindberg spent three terms in the Illinois legislature before being elected comptroller. During that time he headed a special commission which investigated charges of impropriety involving two Supreme Court justices.

State encephalitis epidemic near end

The encephalitis epidemic in Illinois is nearing an end even though 64 new cases of the disease were reported in the last four days, state health officials said Wednesday.

Dick Ridgway, Illinois Dept. of Public Health spokesman, said the new cases of the mosquito-carried virus are victims bitten during the Labor Day weekend. He said recent warm weather has nothing to do with the increase in reported cases since it takes 10 days to two weeks for victims to show symptoms of the disease.

Ridgway said the new cases are just appearing on state records because of the time it takes for victims to show symptons and delays in labora tory testing of victims' blood samples.

"Actually, the hot weather probably does not have much effect on the mosquito population," he said. "New infections are just not occuring. We think we are very close to the end."

Of the new cases, none were reported at Northwest suburban hospitals. Ridgway said 27 of the confirmed cases are in Cook County, primarily in the southern suburbs.

'Negligence' in nursing home deaths

A state agent testified in Waukegan Wednesday the deaths of 14 mentally retarded patients in a Lake County nursing home were due to negligence — a problem common to most nursing homes in the county.

William White, chief agent for the Illinois Legislative Investigating Commission, said the state Depts. of Mental Health, Public Health and Public Aid also were negligent for failing to monitor the nursing homes.

White testified at the opening of a two-day hearing into nursing home abuses in Lake County. The investigation centered largely on All Seasons Nursing Home, where White said 14 mentally retarded patients died in one year between September, 1973 and September, 1974.

Governor's liaison gets flak

Christopher Nugent, who recently stepped down under fire as head of the State Bureau of Employment Security, is starting out under fire in his new job as a liaison between the governor and several state health agencies.

The complaints are the same in both cases. Critics say Nugent has no experience in the areas Gov. Daniel Walker assigned him, and is incapable of doing what the post requires.

Nugent's new job is as a $28,000 a year liaison between Walker and the Comprehensive Health Planning Agency and the departments of Public Health, Mental Health and Vocational Rehabilitation.

The complaints came from Donald Moss, executive director of the Illinois Assn. for Retarded Citizens, Fay Ruth, co-chairman of the Mental Health Coalition, and Charlotte Des-Jardin, coordinator of the County for Handicapped Children.

Illini board OKs hike

University of Illinois trustees Wednesday approved a $262 million operating budget for the coming fiscal year, up 11.9 per cent or $28 million over this year's budget.

The board also approved a $37 million capital budget to be used for building, renovating and rehabilitation work on the school's three campuses.

Both budgets were passed with two dissenting votes.

Probation in Young case

A federal judge in Chicago Wednesday sentenced James K. Young, village attorney for the suburbs of Lombard and Villa Park, to three years' probation for failure to file a 1971 income tax return. Young, 43, pleaded guilty to the charge earlier this year. He also was charged with failure to file a tax return in 1970, but that charge was later dropped.

Car rental firm cuts prices

Budget Rent-A-Car Corp. announced Wednesday it is cutting prices on its small car rentals from $14.95 a day to $11.95. Budget Pres. Morris Belzberg said the $3 cut is in response to price reductions by Hertz and National, both rival car rental companies.

Bus overturns; 18 injured

A greyhound bus ran out of control and overturned Wednesday on Interstate 55 near Litchfield in southwestern Illinois. Eighteen persons suffered minor injuries.

State asks for federal loan

Illinois is applying for a federal loan to help replenish its dwindling unemployment compensation fund, the state's employment security administration said Wednesday. I. Lawrence Richardson did not say how much money was being sought but he noted that as of Oct. 3, the state was $40 million below the required $150 million compensation level.

A BASEBALL player for more than 75 years, this batter is a member of the Kids and Kubs baseball team filmed in St. Petersburg, Fla., for the Kodak "Profile '76" show. Fellow team members range in age from 75 to 93.

Multi-media show

Americana airs in 'Profile '76'

How does the United States look from an isolated island, a tent circus or the mountains of Tennessee? You will find out in the Eastman Kodak multi-media show "Profile '76" sponsored by The Herald Nov. 5 and 6.

The show will be presented at 8 p.m. each day in the Durante room of the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel, Euclid Ave. and Rohlwing Rd., Arlington Heights.

Free tickets for the Bicentennial travel show, cosponsored by the Hilton and American Airlines, are available in the offices of Northwest suburban travel agents and all Herald offices.

Viewers of "Profile '76" will have an opportunity to win a one-week vacation to Washington, D.C. to enjoy the heartland of our Bicentennial celebration. Air transportation is via American Airlines with accommodations at the Shoreham Americana Hotel.

AMONG OTHER door prizes to be awarded each night will be Bicentennial coin sets donated by the Northwest Suburban Coin Club.

"Profile '76," is a multi-media color presentation of life in the United States. It is a potpourri of people and their very special pints of view.

Viewers will meet performers in one of the few remaining tent circuses, watch people float down the Apple River in inner tubes and travel with a wagon train across the plains.

The 90-minute program is based on more than 50,000 miles of travel in a year and a half by Kodak photographers. The multi-media presentation fills a 12 by 36 foot screen alternately with the sweep of a single scene panorama and as many as 12 separate pictures at one time.

'Profile-76' tickets at travel agencies

Free tickets for "Profile '76," the Eastman Kodak multi-media show, are available at the following travel agents:

- Arlington Heights: First Arlington International Travel, Roberta Fisher Travel and Wayne Griffin Travel.
- Buffalo Grove: The Traveler.
- Des Plaines: Bank-on-Travel, Des Plaines Travel Agency and First-Maine Travel.
- Elk Grove Village: Easy Travel Service.
- Palatine: Around the World Travel, Travel-&, Inc., and Wilson World Travel.
- Mount Prospect: Mt. Prospect Vacations.
- Rolling Meadows: Beemack World Travel.
- Schaumburg: American Express Travel and Schaumburg Travel Service.

Tickets are also available at the Arlington Park Hilton Hotel and at all Herald offices.

'Reverse vasectomies' performed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A doctor, using a miscrope and tiny stainless steel instruments, showed his fellow surgeons Wednesday how to give back the power of reproduction to men who have had vasectomies.

The "reverse vasectomy" operation was performed at the Veterans Hospital here and color telecast to the annual meeting of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Sherman J. Silber, of the University of California School of Medicine, developed the technique by experimenting on the tiny blood vessels of animals.

He said in 19 consecutive similar operations the men have since become fathers or have a baby on the way.

"With the sadly increasing rate of divorce and remarriage in this country, we may expect to see an increasing number of men requesting vasectomy reversal," said Silber.

He said most men who want to regain their fertility "have a history of divorce and remarriage and wish to have a child by their new wife." Others want it because one or more of their earlier children have died.

Reduced-fare RTA plan a must

by STEVE FORSYTH

Reduced fares for handicapped and elderly persons must be established for all bus companies in the Regional Transportation Authority area before federal assistance money can be spent, the RTA board learned Wednesday.

Representatives of the Chicago Transit Authority proposed to the RTA board that the CTA staff be used for certification of suburban elderly and handicapped persons because the CTA has an established procedure.

Suburban board members objected to the CTA being identified with an RTA program, and recommended establishment of mailing addresses in each county in the RTA, instead of the CTA address.

SUBURBAN board member Joseph A. Tecson, Riverside, said the RTA should be considering reduced fares for commuter railroads as well as bus companies.

Joan Vlecides, who proposed the CTA program, said no federal money from the operating subsidy program is being used for commuter railroads this year, so reduced fares would not be necessary for another year.

Some RTA board members objected to a proposal that handicapped persons be certified in writing by a doctor, because it could cost the person more money. Tecson said doctors are likely to charge fees for filling out the RTA forms.

Ms. Vlecides estimated that 24,000 handicapped persons might qualify for reduced fares in the six-county area, "But we would be surprised indeed if 24,000 people applied for cards." She said she had no estimates of the number of elderly persons who might qualify in the six-county area.

THE FEDERAL government requires recipients of operating subsidy money to provide half-fare rates to qualified elderly and handicapped persons.

RTA staff members also provided details on the first of several proposed new RTA bus routes, most of them in the suburbs. The plans include local service in Des Plaines, to be operated through the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist. (NORTRAN), which is proposing to eliminate its present service in the city.

The Des Plaines route plan calls for seven buses operating on a half-hour schedule during peak periods, and hourly the rest of the day.

RTA Marketing Director Brian Cudahy said the new routes would be operated under 100 per cent RTA subsidies for at least six months, until the performance of the routes could be evaluated. Extremely unsuccessful routes would be dropped, and partially successful routes might be continued with subsidies from the RTA and the local communities.

"WE'RE GOING to take a very active role in promoting the services," Cudahy said. He showed samples of new schedules and route maps that would accompany the new bus route program.

Suburban board members suggested that Cudahy consider balancing the new routes among all six RTA counties, because most of the new proposals are in Cook County. "I'd hate to find at the end of the year that three counties weren't served but the $2.7 million had been expended," said suburban board member D. Daniel Baldino, Evanston.

The board also objected to RTA office remodeling plans that were estimated to cost $600-800,000.

"The purpose of this agency is to provide transportation for the six-county area, and having failed to do much in that direction, to spend almost a million dollars to house ourselves flies in the face of what is reasonable," said board member James Kemp, Chicago.

Bus company repays $210,000

The former United Motor Coach Co. of Des Plaines has repaid $12,000 the Regional Transportation Authority said was overpaid in grants last year.

A United spokesman had said the overpayment didn't occur, but an RTA audit showed the excess had been granted, said RTA Chairman Milton Pikarsky.

United was given the grant in November 1974, and was purchased by the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist. (NORTRAN) in January 1975.

Vatican slams male contraceptive

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican has condemned a proposed male birth-control pill and a female abortion drug as contrary to Roman Catholic moral law.

Theologian Gino Concetti said in an article in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano that the Catholic Church would not condone use of the two drugs, still being tested on animals.

Reports on the new contraceptives came at a Rome drug symposium earlier this month. Prof. Frederich Coulston of Union University, Albany, N.Y., reported on experments with the "pill for him," which he said should be effective if taken daily for two weeks and once weekly from there on.

"In the light of Catholic teaching, the moral judgment about the male pill as a birth control device can only be negative," Concetti wrote.

He said the Roman Catholic Church bans all forms of artificial birth control, allowing only abstinence and the rhythm system.

NI seeks payment for gas line break

Northern Illinois Gas Co. officials said Wednesday they are seeking reimbursement for the cost of a June 26 pipeline break caused by a Villa Park construction company.

The company, Sheehan Pipe Line Co., was fined $100 in Circuit Court earlier this week on a complaint filed by county environmental control officials.

The broken pipeline near Busse Road in Mount Prospect resulted in traffic tie ups and a temporary closing of the Northwest Tollway.

NI Gas spokesmen said the bill for the damage caused by the broken pipeline has been submitted to the Sheehan Co., but has not yet been paid. Gas Co. officials refused to disclose the amount of the bill. The gas main was broken by a tractor the company was using to install a gasoline pipeline in the same area as the natural gas main.

Stock market prices up slightly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dow Jones industrial average, which swung between plus and minus territory during most of the session, finished the day ahead 1.97 at 837.22 Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The blue chip indicator was up around four points at mid-session. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index eased 0.05 to 89.23.

The price of an average NYSE share lost three cents.

Declines maintained a slim lead over advances, 708 to 622, among the 1,812 issues crossing the tape. Volume totaled 14,440,000 shares, compared with 19,960,000 shares turned over Tuesday.

Polaroid was the most active Big Board issue, up 7/8 to 40¼ on 176,800 shares. G. D. Searle followed, off 3/8 to 16-3/8 on 154,100 shares. Tenneco warrants were third, off 1/16 to 5/32 on 147,300 traded.

Most stock groups showed only fractional changes in both directions, but the oils recorded some point-size losses.

In the oil group, Halliburton lost 4-5/8 to 150-1/8, Superior Oil 2¼ to 185-¾, and Schlumberer 2 to 72¼. Mobil gave up 1/4 to 47.

The chemicals were mixed.

Prices eased in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. The price of an average Amex common share lost a penny. Volume amounted to 1,522,000 shares compared with 1,828,000 shares exchanged Tuesday.

The way we see it

Let's plan out budget cuts

Elk Grove Village, like other local communities, suddenly and unhappily has discovered the days of plentiful revenue are gone.

As village officials work to pull the present budget out of an estimated $300,000 deficit, and next year's budget out of a projected $1 million shortage, they must take whatever steps are necessary to end the crisis.

Last week the board started an attack on the projected deficit. The problem became a sudden reality after a combination of lower returns from property taxes, higher electricity rates and insurance fees and declining revenue from other sources was projected for the months ahead.

Tuesday night the village board approved $144,000 worth of cutbacks in the budget, all of which are designed to help the village out of its present and future financial problems. We support these steps, since they are responsible ways of easing the budget crisis.

One suggestion, however, not yet acted upon by the board, is a 5 per cent utility tax designed to raise between $750,000 and $800,000. This is a wrong way to raise money for the village.

Utility taxes are usually hailed as temporary solutions to immediate financial problems, but too often these hidden taxes on residents' utility bills become permanent. This pattern should not be followed in Elk Grove Village.

More to the point in this crisis is that village officials should not reject the possibility of selling a 36-acre piece of property once considered as a site for a sports arena.

The property, located at Landmeier and Busse roads, was purchased earlier this year. Since the purchase, however, arena development plans have been scrapped.

Village officials report the sale of the property would bring the village about $198,000 in immediate revenue and save another $118,000 in interest charges.

The village board immediately should consider selling the property. If the community can salvage a reasonable portion of its original investment, then that land should be sold.

There's also a deeper message in Elk Grove Village's present financial agonies — long-range planning is an absolute must for all communities. By planning and cutting right now, the village is avoiding future dilemmas. In these hard-pressed economic times, it's the only sensible step to take.

Congress' 'deductions' are a loophole to us

"Tax loopholes" are a favorite target of congressmen in search of an issue. To hear some of them tell it, there's no more deadly foe on earth.

But a Congressional committee, the House Ways and Means, has just voted Congress its own private tax loophole, and it's a dandy.

Here's how it works: legislators will be permitted to take a deduction of $44 a day for every day they attend a legislative session. The effect of this proposal would be to raise the present flat $3,000-a-year deduction to more than double that figure.

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, has wisely criticized this proposal and has added he'll work for the defeat of the Democrats' tax bill when it reaches the floor of Congress later this fall.

If Congress allows this measure to be passed into law, it will in effect create a giant credibility loophole for the Congressmen themselves. If Congress cannot help but create loopholes for its own membership, then how can it rid the nation's tax structure of such loopholes, it'll be asked. Frankly, we think that's a pretty good question.

The almanac

(by United Press International)

Today is Thursday, Oct. 16, the 289th day of 1975 with 76 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Libra.

American playwright Eugene O'Neill was born Oct. 16, 1888. This is actress Angela Lansbury's 50th birthday.

On this day in history:

• In 1940, anticipating a Japanese buildup for war, the United States banned all shipments of steel and scrap iron to Japan.

• In 1959, U. S. Army Chief of Staff George Marshall died.

• In 1969, the New York Mets, an expansion team formed in 1962, defeated Baltimore to win their first world baseball championship.

• In 1972, a light plane carrying House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana, and three other men, was reported missing in Alaska. The plane was never found.

A thought for the day: Playwright Eugene O'Neill said, "Our lives are merely strange dark interludes in the electrical display of God the Father."

She blasts Nimrod's ERA stand

First, I'd like to thank the organizations in the Fourth legislative district for their help in forming the Citizens Committee for ERA. For those out gathering names on the petitions, a special thanks.

The kickoff rally for the committee was a success, especially in the view of the appearance of Sen. John Nimrod, who will receive the petitions in Springfield Nov. 5.

It was a politically embarassing afternoon for Sen. Nimrod, since he still vows not to know enough about the Equal Rights Amendment to vote "yes" for it this fall. A documented letter was read from the Fourth District coordinator, Inga Hample, that listed only a portion of the barrage of legal information and briefings Nimrod has been presented with over the last three years. It is unfortunate that the Senator did not recognize some of the faces in the crowd that have lobbied for ERA both in his Skokie offices and in Springfield, supplying him with more information than perhaps any other legislator in the state.

Ruth Bater Ginsberg, law professor at Columbia University, talks about the 30 years of research and development of the ERA in an article for the American Bar Association Journal: "Reading debates on the amendment in the law journals of the 1920's is enlightening. The objections still voiced in 1975 were solidly answered then."

But Sen. Nimrod says he does not want to rush into things. It was in 1972 that the U.S. Congress passed the ERA with the largest plurality (79 per cent yes) of any Constitutional amendment. Thirty-four states have since ratified, with only four more needed.

Nimrod does recognize discriminatory laws and practices. He proposes to solve all these problems by writing the governors of each state and convincing them to change and conform their laws. This is not a bad idea; in fact, it is the main purpose of the ERA. Allowing for time to do this, the third sections reads: "This amendment shall take effect two years after its date of ratification."

If Congress, with the backing of the entire U.S. government and a Constitutional law, knows it will take two years for the states to review their laws, I ask them, how does Nimrod propose to achieve this on his own? Also, how does he change federal issues such as Social Security, which is blatantly discriminatory? All the state laws in the country cannot erase federally imbedded economic inequities.

The ERA, despite all the emotional clamor, is an economic issue. It means money and benefits in the accounts of women and men in this country for their families and futures.

Perhaps John Nimrod is right about one thing. He has not learned enough about the real issues of the ERA.

Chamber head hits expansion comment

Late last week your newspapers carried a story and editorial on the discussion at a political education seminar sponsored by the State Chamber in Mount Prospect which was part of a series held throughout the state. Joseph T. Meek, who works with us in a legislative liaison capacity, presided at this meeting and in the course of the program stated, in effect, that the Caterpillar Tractor Company has abandoned any expansion plans in Illinois.

This statement on the part of Mr. Meek was erroneous and not based on any information he or the State Chamber possesses.

Many Illinois business firms have become greatly concerned with the deteriorating business climate in our state and this will certainly affect their expansion plans but to our knowledge Caterpillar has never made any statement of this type regarding its future in Illinois.

Caterpillar is considered to be one of the top corporate citizens of Illinois and over a period of many years has invested heavily in our state. Any comments regarding their future plans by anyone associated with the State Chamber are inappropriate.

We appreciate the attention you have given to the subject of business' concern with the legislative and political process in Illinois but we wanted to set the record straight on any comment about the Caterpillar Tractor Company.

It is our hope you will print this correction in those editions of your newspapers which carried the story and editorial.

'A certain regret at leaving'

by BOB LAHEY
Political Editor

Bob Lahey

Bob Lahey leaves the staff of The Herald Friday to join the Chicago public relations staff of Governor Daniel Walker. Lahey joined Paddock Publications in November 1970 as a city editor of the Arlington Heights Herald and was later named political editor of the chain. He held that position with The Herald until his resignation.

Henry Ford Jr., in his biography of his father, quoted him in words to this effect:

"No matter where you find yourself, or how unhappy you feel there, on the day that you leave that place, you will look around and feel a certain regret at leaving."

In my experience, that has proven to be true. The truth of it is all the more certain when you leave a place in which you have been happy.

Having knocked around this business of newspapering for 17 years, I find no great joy in leaving it. There isn't all that much to be long-jowled about, either, because there are other things out there that can be done.

Going away, I take memories.

The nice thing about newspapering is that, if you stay at it long enough, you're going to have some interesting experiences.

Woody Hayes kicked me out of a locker room. (He just got beat by Illinois, 6-0).

President Ford autographed a picture my son drew. (The Secret Service misdirected him in a crowd and I found myself face-to-face with him and I thought, what the hell . . .)

I am probably the only living American journalist who ever interviewed Sen. Charles Percy stark naked — him, not me. (He was preparing for a shower after a tennis match in Mount Prospect.)

I had a midnight drink with Paul Powell. ("There're only two things I need to be governor," he told me. "One is a million dollars. The other is the support of Dick Daley. The first part is easy.")

I bought Adlai Stevenson a Pepsi Cola.

I met Bella Abzug at 2 a.m. outside a Miami hotel.

I once stumbled and kicked George Romney in the ankle.

I chatted with Jesse Jackson on a Boeing 707 at 18,000 feet.

Not all of it has been so pleasant.

I interviewed a police officer — a boyhood hero of mine — while he sat in a jail cell where he was put for stealing $22,000 from his fellow officers' pension fund.

I broke the news to a state's attorney — a friend of mine — that he had been caught with his hand in the till, to the tune of $44,000.

I made the mistake once of arriving at the scene of a fatal accident before the police, and had to go out in the cornfield and find the body at the plea of the weeping young widow.

But there were more times that were fun.

There was the night I took an unexpected plane ride, near midnight, with Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, who was rushing back to Springfield to cast a needed vote. I had neither a clean shirt nor a toothbrush with me.

I sat in the Miami Convention Hall while a jovial Harold Katz, state representative from Glencoe, explained to me the devious goings-on by which the George McGovern contingent was throwing the South Carolina delegate fight.

I have had confrontations with such outstanding people as Rep. Virginia Macdonald, R-Arlington Heights, and former Wheeling Township GOP committeeman Richard Cowen, who have proven their stature by subsequently allowing me to become their friend.

I have had the privilege of visiting person-to-person with the likes of Richard Ogilvie, Everett Dirksen, Paul Douglas, Charles Percy, Adlai Stevenson, Otto Kerner and a guy named Curly, which is too long a story to tell.

If you mention my name to them, you will get a blank stare—but I have been privileged to find myself in close proximity to President Dwight David Eisenhower, President John F. Kennedy, President Richard M. Nixon and President Gerald R. Ford (somehow I missed Mr. Johnson).

I have been the confidant of none of these Presidents. But it is a fringe benefit of this business that you get a little closer look at them than the average guy.

Beyond that I have known newsmen. For one in this trade, that word is all the description that is needed. It is as if Willy Loman were to say, "Now, THERE is a salesman."

And out of all the people that I have encountered in these years, there is one grand old man who stands out in my memory.

Sitting on a wobbly wooden bench in a high school locker room in rural Illinois, Satchel Paige said to me:

"Don't look back. Something may be gaining on you."

No one wins in a teachers' strike

Education today

by Wandalyn Rice

by WANDALYN RICE

One of the curious things about teacher-school board relations in the Northwest suburbs is that despite occasional shouting, they have been reasonably peaceful.

The fact is that while the news each year is full of reports of teachers' strikes throughout the state, there has been only one strike in the Northwest suburbs — in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 in 1970.

That long spell of peace may be interrupted this week if some movement does not occur soon in Schaumburg Township Dist. 54. The teachers' union and the board were scheduled to continue negotiations last night, but the teachers already have authorized a strike and at least some informed sources say there will be a strike sometime this week.

Before anyone starts doing a Chicken Little imitation by saying that any strike would bring the sky tumbling around the board's and teachers union's ears, it is important to point out a few things.

In the first place, a strike vote, like the one taken by the district's teachers, is far from a guarantee there will be a strike. Instead, it is part of a time-honored ritual that goes into play in any labor-management dispute.

In addition, it is important to remember that even if there is a strike, it is almost guaranteed that the two sides will somehow agree on a contract settlement.

There have been a couple of cases in the entire country in which school boards and teachers have come to irreconcilable differences, with the board firing the teachers and strikes dragging on indefinitely.

That, however, is far from the ordinary chain of events. Usually, what happens is a strike lasts for one, two or three school days. Unions have a habit of scheduling them around weekends to cut the number of actual teaching days lost and eventually each side discovers that it has a flexibility it had not previously suspected.

If there is a strike in this area, it is almost certain this will happen. There will be some lingering bitterness afterward, some finger-pointing as each side blames the other for the strike and then things will settle down.

Another thing to remember as the issue unfolds, is the fact that whatever happens there are rarely any conventional "winners" and "losers" in a strike.

As Herald interviews with a number of Dist. 54 parents Tuesday indicated, many people are likely to believe that the teachers have a reason to strike, but others will compare the raise being requested by the teachers to the ones being given by recession-plagued private industry and decide the teacher demands are excessive.

The public, when it is not apathetic to issues like those in Dist. 54, is quite likely to decide that both sides are at fault. The result is that both teachers, who need public support during a strike, and board members, who need votes at election time, find themselves on the wrong end of public opinion.

The result is that it is in the interest of both sides to stop short of a strike.

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

What about prostate surgery?

My husband is just past 60 and has had prostate trouble for a couple of years. He has to get up frequently at night and has what he calls distress in the area.

The doctor put him on a sulfa drug, and he was to drink plenty of water or juices. He no longer has the distress, but still has to get up frequently. What about the sulfa drug? Shouldn't he go back to the doctor and discontinue it? And, should he have surgery? Is the surgery successful?

Your husband's doctor apparently thought he had a urinary tract infection. This often occurs when the normal drainage of the bladder is impaired. The success of the treatment suggests he was right.

It is usually a good idea to drink lots of fluids when taking sulfa drugs. That helps prevent complications that might otherwise occur in the kidneys.

Yes, your husband should go back to the doctor. He should stay on the sulfa as long as the doctor tells him to. A mistake patients often make is to discontinue treatment because they feel better — regardless of the illness. In many instances this will delay or prevent recovery from an illness or may allow it to recur. So, don't stop until the doctor says to do so.

The persistence of your husband's frequency suggests that he still has obstruction of the bladder, even if he has eliminated the associated infection. The doctor will need to examine him and evaluate the amount of difficulty before anything is decided about an operation. In some cases injury can be postponed and in others it can't and is absolutely necessary.

Do you have any simple rule you can give us poor housewives to use in figuring the proper limit of fat in the diet? I read in your column and elsewhere that no more than a third of one's calories should come from fat, but the food labels always give fats, carbohydrates and proteins in grams. I know that grams and calories are not the same thing, but I don't know how to make the conversion, and it is driving me up the wall. How can we be expected to prepare meals without too much fat if we can't get the information we need?

How right you are. As a simple generalization, there are nine calories in a gram of fat, four in a gram of carbohydrate or protein. A simple rule then is that the total grams of fat in your diet should be only one fifth of all the grams of carbohydrates and proteins plus fat in your diet. The total grams of protein and carbohydrate should be at least four times the number of grams of fat in your diet.

If your diet included 60 grams of protein and 140 grams of carbohydrate (200 grams of protein plus carbohydrate), it should contain no more than 50 grams of fat.

That is four times as much carbohydrate and protein as fat or one fifth of the diet would be grams of fat. That would mean 36 per cent of your calories would be fat, a smidgen more than you should have, but within tolerable limits. You don't have to have that much fat, of course. That is the upper limit.

Obviously, the ratio I have used as an example would give you only 450 calories of fat, 240 calories from protein, and 560 calories of carbohydrates or a total of just 1250 calories, not enough for daily normal eating except for those on a reducing diet.

Red Sox triumph; Series deadlocked

World Series

Cincinnati (UPI) — Luis Tiant, mixing his pitches like a sleight of hand magician, baffled the Cincinnati Reds for the second time in five days Wednesday night and, with the aid of a spectacular running catch by super rookie Fred Lynn in the ninth inning, pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 5-4 victory that evened the World Series at two games apiece.

The Red Sox triumph, only the 18th registered at Riverfront Stadium against the Reds this season in 85 games, assured that the best-of-seven series will return to Boston. The fifth game will be played at Riverfront Stadium Thursday night with the sixth set for Boston Saturday afternoon.

Tiant, who blanked the Reds on five hits in the Series opener at Boston last Saturday, was not as overpowering this time, but the Cuban right-hander was tough when he had to be, especially in the ninth inning when he retired Ken Griffey and Joe Morgan in succession with runners on first and second.

The Reds, who had come from behind to win in their last at bats 26 times this season, almost pulled it out in the ninth but a sensational over-the shoulder catch by Lynn on Griffey's long drive to deep center proved to be the turning point for the Red Sox.

Given a new lease by Lynn's catch, the mustachioed Tiant reached back for something extra and retired Morgan on a pop to first baseman Carl Yastrzemski to end the game.

Tiant best personified the Red Sox gutsy spirit, which had almost been broken Tuesday night on the controversial 10th inning bunt play that enabled the Reds to win.

Tiant almost didn't survive the first inning. The Reds clobbered him pretty hard as Rose led off with a single and Griffey followed with a run-scoring double to right-center. Griffey, however, was thrown out trying to stretch his hit into a triple and that turned out to be a key mistake for the Reds.

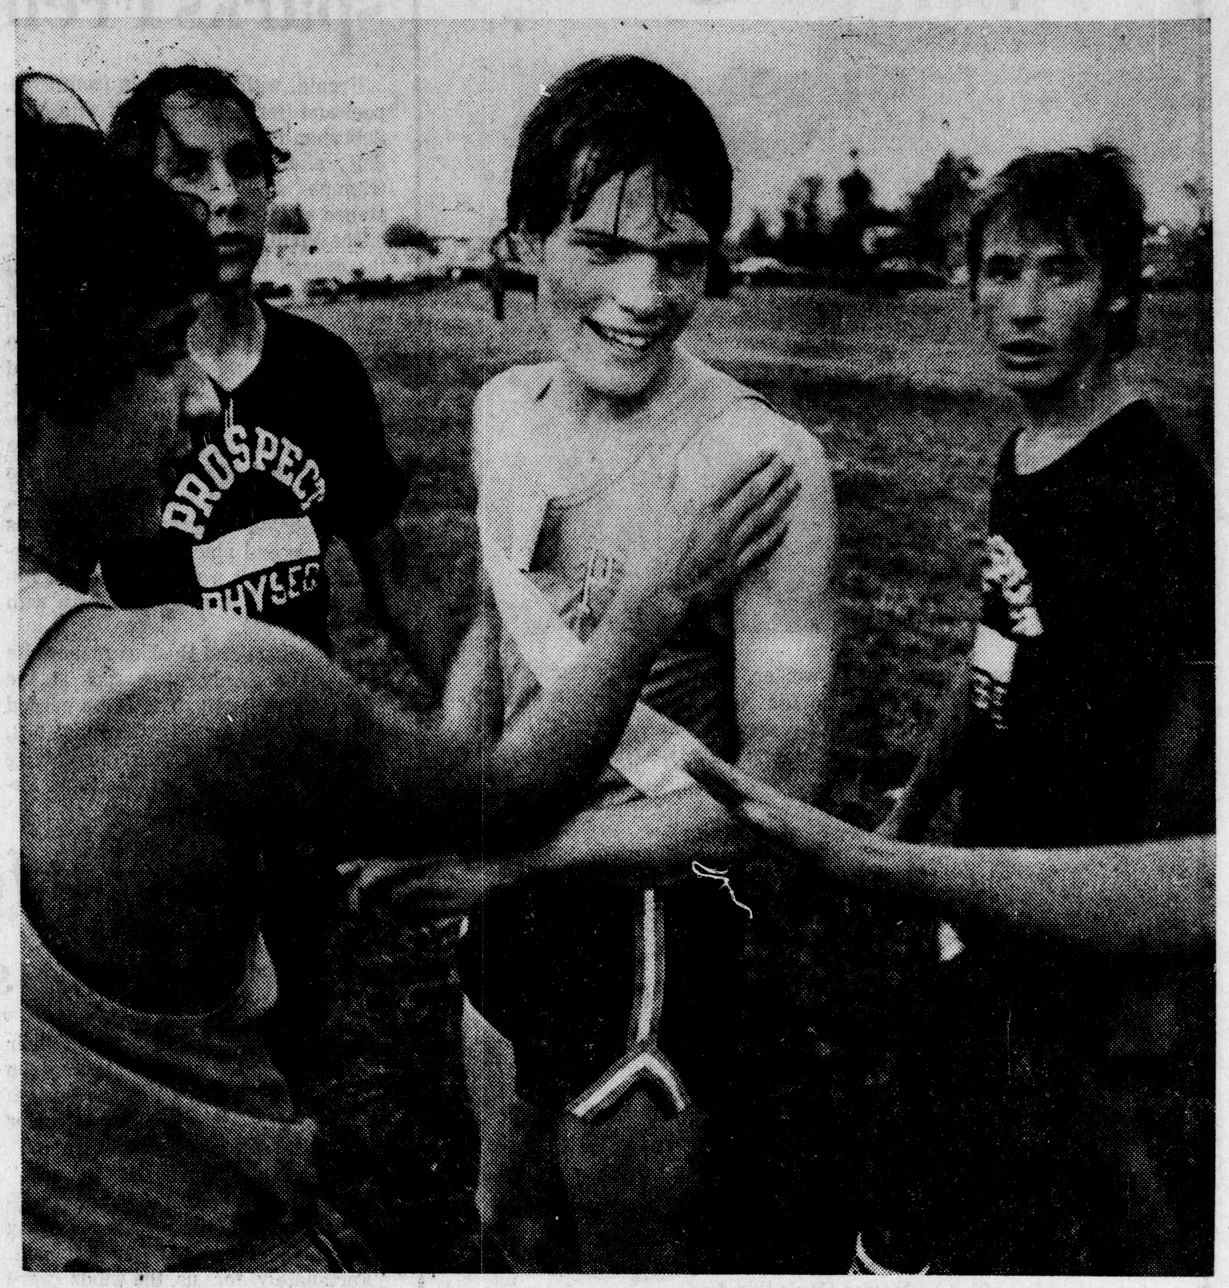
Following the out at third, Morgan drew a walk and one out later Johnny Bench doubled to right-center to chase Morgan home.

The Red Sox seemed to have broken the game open when they sent 10 men to the plate in the fourth inning and scored five times to take a 5-2 lead. The Reds' starter, southpaw Fred Norman, had blanked Boston over the first three innings but was tatooed for four solid hits in the fourth before manager Sparky Anderson took mercy on him.

Singles by Carlton Fisk and Lynn touched off the rally, and after Rico Petrocelli popped out, Dwight Evans slammed a triple to right-center to score two runs. Rick Burleson got Evans home with a line shot into left-center and when centerfielder Cesar Geronimo was slow in getting to the ball, Burleson legged it into second base with a double.

Anderson then replaced Norman with Pedro Borbon and Tiant, who had driven in a run in the opening game of the series with his first hit in three years, singled to right-center. The hit was too sharp to score Burleson, but the Red Sox second baseman tallied a moment later when Tony Perez booted Juan Beniquez' slow roller at first. One out later Yastrzemski singled to right to chase home Tiant with the final run of the inning.

The Red Sox nearly gave the game back in the bottom of the fourth, however, when some lackadaisical defense allowed the Reds to score two runs.



HAPPY WINNER. Prospect's Bill Hrbek (center) is all smiles after taking first place in final dual meet of the season at Hoffman Estates. Hrbek's effort, his fourth league victory, paced the Knights to a 26-31 win over Hoffman, giving them a 6-0 record and sole possession of first place in the Mid-Suburban League South division. Are area grid schedules friend or foe to powers?

Paul Logan
Associate Sports Editor

Does Hersey have a "killer schedule" when compared to Schaumburg's so-called "candy" one?

And if this has been the case, how will these past high school football games affect their play this weekend?

Through six weeks of the season, the Hersey Huskies and the Schaumburg Saxons have been unbeatable. Can the Mid-Suburban League's division leaders keep it up?

Do these two teams have what it takes to advance in the state tournament?

The coaches of these powerhouses tried to answer these questions.

The Saxons, according to head coach Bob Ferguson, are more awesome than last year's Super Bowl championship team. Still, their first six opponents have a combined record of 9-27, leaving Schaumburg untested so far.

"We went through it last year with Rolling Meadows, Forest View, Elk Grove and Conant," said Ferguson. "It was a matter of four games . . . There was no breather.

"There's no question I kind of like it this ear. We've got a nice schedule. There's no question about that. But no matter what, the pressure's on you as a coach."

That's especially true these next two weeks for the "nice" part of the schedule is over.

"Prospect's going to be a super test for us," he continued. And so will Hoffman Estates on Oct. 25. "That's the magic number (2) for us. We're going to be ready for it."

Last year Schaumburg struggled to win the South title. The Saxons' season climaxed by beating Hersey in the Super Bowl.

"The kids were looking forward to the Super Bowl more than the state playoffs," said Ferguson. Five days after their 7-6 comeback win, the emotionally-drained Saxons lost in the state tourney opener.

Since the Mid-Suburban's Super Bowl has been eliminated, winners of the North and South divisions will advance to the state playoffs. Although it might rob the area of a dream matchup of unbeaten teams, the new setup will allow divisional champs to thoroughly prepare for the state tournament.

While Schaumburg must sweat out the next two weeks, Hersey can clinch the North title Friday night by beating Palatine. If the Huskies succeed, it would mark the end of the grueling portion of their schedule.

"For four of the last five weeks, we've been the game of the week," said Joe Gliwa, Hersey's head coach. "I haven't seen a breather since the opener. Wheeling was supposed to be a breather."

Instead, the Wildcats made the Huskies struggle before losing 14-0.

"You find out how good you are early with a tough schedule," said Gliwa, whose team has faced four teams with 4-2 records and a six-team schedule with a combined mark of 19-17.

Ideally, Gliwa would have liked to have had a schedule that would "gradually get stronger. But when it's behind you, it's a tremendous accomplishment."

But you have to wonder if these extremely tough weekly challenges, especially last Saturday's two-overtime win over Buffalo Grove, are taking their toll of Hersey emotionally.

"I can't believe it's going to hurt us," said Gliwa. "It's always a good sign when kids come from behind.

"I don't know if teams peak or not in 13 games. The injury thing is a tremendous factor."

Since Hersey plays two-platoon football, its star players get a chance to rest. The Huskies have avoided serious injury as well as having had the reserve energy when it was needed to pull out a victory.

"Our kids are not an emotionally-high kind of group," said Gliwa. "They're not yellers and screamers. We don't have a fireball on defense or offense."

Joe Gliwa

Both coaches say their teams are ready for possibly their toughest tests to date. Past games are just that — history.

What their teams do from this weekend on is what counts.

With titles, playoff berths and perfect records hanging in the balance, the schedule becomes a "killer" the rest of the way.

Umpire 'leading' in Series dispute

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Big buzz at the World Series Wednesday still centered around "The Play" 24 hours after it happened, with baseball men almost equally split in their judgment, with the umpire, if anything, 'leading' in the debate.

Nobody was harshly critical of Larry Barnett, the 30-year-old American League home plate umpire who generated the Series' most lively controversy so far when he refused to call interference against Ed Armbrister following the Cincinnati pinch-hitter's disputed bunt in the 10th inning of Tuesday night's contest, won by the Reds, 6-5.

Even those siding with Boston catcher Carlton Fisk, who felt like he did, that Armbrister should have been called out for interference, sympathized with Barnett for having to make an instantaneous decision without benefit of seeing the play rerun again on television.

One baseball man, Whitey Herzog, manager of the Kansas City Royals, felt it wouldn't be a bad idea to allow the umpires to look at a disputed play on TV's instant replay during a World Series.

"Why not?" asked Herzog. "They've got ten cameras in the ball park, haven't they? This is one case where they could avail themselves of instant replay.

"I think everything considered, he (Barnett) called it right. A fielder has to have a chance to field the ball and I think Fisk did."

Dave Bristol, the Atlanta Braves' new manager, disagreed. He felt Armbrister had been guilty of interfering with Fisk when the Red Sox' catcher tried to field his bunt. Bristol spoke mostly about Armbrister, and the way it turned out, he saluted the Reds' pinch-hitter for his resourcefulness.

"I thought he was on Broadway the way he was acting," Bristol said. "He acted out his role perfectly. He didn't like his bunt, so now he had to do all he could to help his team in another way and I think he did, which was good thinking on his part."

Former Houston manager Preston Gomez also felt there was interference on Armbrister's part.

"I saw the play at the ball park and after I came back to my hotel room I saw the replay several times," said Gomez. "I'd have to say there was interference. No question about it. That's the way I saw it."

Among those who felt Barnett should have called Armbrister for interference was Danny Ozark, the Philadelphia Phillies manager.

"I saw the play at the park and I saw the replay," he said. "The more times I saw it the more obvious it was that there had been interference. I also thought the way it was interpreted by the umpire was not very good. Maybe the interference was unintentional, but it still was interference."

CINCINNATI'S Ed Armbrister, bunting in the 10th inning Tuesday, collides with Boston catcher Carlton Fisk, a play that has stirred up a storm of controversy. Boston claimed interference.

St. Viator golfers 3rd; Cantieri leads with 75

Despite a medalist performance by Bob Cantieri, St. Viator slipped to third place in the Suburban Catholic North conference golf outing held at Rob Roy.

Carmel, victors over the Lions in dual meet action earlier in the season, forged a 312 total to wrap up the loop crown while Viator was tying for second with Notre Dame at 316.

The Lions were awarded the No. 2 spot on the basis of fifth men scores.

Results in the SCC frosh-soph meet, also run over Rob Roy, produced a similar lineup. Carmel was first at 328 with the Dons second at 354 and St. Viator third at 357.

Cantieri logged a standout 37-38-75 to edge out a pair of Corsair linksmen for individual laurels. Two other Lions, Tim Beatty and Fritz Schuler, scored 78s to finish among a three-way tie for fifth on the medalist list.

The rest of Viator's lineup included John Saxer in at 85, Chuck Lynch with an 86 and Jack Patterson at 87. Marist at 347 and St. Patrick at 353 rounded out the team finish line.

In the frosh-soph tourney, Bill Hickey paced Lion scoring with an 85 and Jim Clark added an 88, Tony Majcher an 89 and Mark Breen a 95.

Brazilian soldier shatters world triple jump mark

Joao Oliveira, a 23-year-old Brazilian soldier, stood the world of track and field on its ear Wednesday in much the same way Bob Beamon did in 1968, when he set a world triple jump record of 58 feet 8¼ inches aided by Mexico City's thin air.

The Brazilian, who won the long jump at the Pan American games earlier in the week, broke the old mark of 57 feet 2¾ inches set by Russia's Olympic champion Victor Saneyev on Oct. 17, 1972.

In the 1968 Olympics, in the same stadium, Beamon jumped 29 feet 2½ inches to win the long jump and the mark has not been challenged even remotely since.

Oliveira added nearly three feet to his previous best of 54-11 in much the same way Beamon demoralized the opposition in '68 with the leap of a lifetime.

The 21-year-old Brazilian soldier's sensational jump overshadowed all that had gone before in the beautiful Olympic Stashadowed all that had gone before in the beautiful stadium, where the U.S. picked up a couple of gold medals to Cuba's one.

Black Hawks tie Detroit

Ivan Boldirev, who was traded by the California Golden Seals to the Chicago Black Hawks in 1974, turned in a dramatic performance Wednesday evening in the Chicago Stadium, scoring twice in the final seven minutes to give the Hawks a 4-4 tie with Detroit.

Chicago opened the scoring in the first period on a goal by Cliff Koroll, a six-year Black Hawks veteran, but the Red Wings battled back for a 2-1 period advantage. Detroit went on top 3-2 after two periods.

It was 4-2 at one stage early in the final period when Boldirev went to work to give the Black Hawks their second tie in four games this season. Coach Billy Reay's outfit stands 1-1-2 overall.

Murtaugh to return as manager

Easy going Danny Murtaugh, the Pittsburgh Pirates "rocking-chair" manager, put to rest the swirl of retirement rumors that annually surround him by announcing Wednesday he would return as the club's pilot for the 15th season in 1976.

Murtaugh managed the Pirates to a first place finish in the National League East this season before being eliminated in the playoffs three straight games by the Cincinnati Reds. It was the fourth division championship for Murtaugh, now in his third stint as the Pirates' manager.

"I'm coming back because I obviously like to manage," Murtaugh said. "I had a good year — not talent wise, but health-wise — and that's the main reason. I had only one illness this year and that was nothing but a case of the good old-fashioned flu."

Murtaugh suffered two mild heart attacks in the past which led to retirements in 1964 and 1971.

"I've said as long as I'm general manager, Danny can manage this ballclub," said Pirates' General Manager Joe Brown, who was present at the press conference. "I want him to do what he wants to do."

'Mean Joe' is ready for Bears

Pittsburgh Steelers' defensive tackle Joe Greene figures it's about time he starts living up to his nickname.

Greene, tagged "Mean Joe," has been annoyed this week about charges that he has been kicking offensive linemen. Guard Paul Howard of Denver leveled the charge Monday after Sunday's game with the Steelers here. And Cleveland's Bob McKay said much the same thing the week before.

"I think I've been too nice lately," Greene said Wednesday. "Maybe that is the matter. I'm going to keep playing the way I always have, but maybe not as nice."

So perhaps Greene will be the National Football League's public enemy number one for Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears.

Greene indicated the alleged kicking incidents may have been precipitated because of holding by offensive linemen.

Holding is almost a necessity these days because of the strength, size and quickness of most NFL defensive tackles and ends. But in the past, as Greene said, "holding used to be an art. Some guys can hold you so slick, so neat, that it's funny. But now they just reach out and grab you."

"I probably won't complain about being held the rest of the season," he said, but added emphatically, "I will not be held up."

Harper opponent No. 8 in nation

College of DuPage, Harper's opponent Saturday afternoon, is ranked eighth according to the latest national junior college football poll.

Another future Harper opponent, Grand Rapids, Mich. (Nov. 8), is the 10th best team in the nation according to the same rankings.

Mesa (Ariz.) Community College held onto its No. 1 position Wednesday in the poll, receiving 14 of the 21 first-place votes.

Mesa ran its record to 5-0 last week with a 14-10 victory over crosstown rival Scottsdale Community College. Behind Mesa, No. 2 Mississippi Gulf Coast grabbed two first-place votes and No. 3 Nassau (N.Y.) pulled down three. They were the only other teams to be named No. 1 on more than one ballot.

Bruning's medalist 79 sparks Fremd to title

Fremd, with a little help from Prospect and Hersey, slipped off with Mid-Suburban frosh-soph golf honors Tuesday after forging an impressive triumph in the conference meet staged at Indian Lakes.

The Vikings nudged Forest View for the overall title after finishing behind the Falcons in the dual meet portion of the race. Win Bruning's medalist 79 showing sparked the Vikes to a 340 aggregate at the Schaumburg-hosted gathering on the Iroquois layout.

In dual meet action Forest View finished with an 11-1 mark for first place while Fremd, Prospect and Buffalo Grove all knotted for second at 10-2. In Tuesday's tourney, the Falcons missed second place and a sure overall title by just a pair of strokes, finishing instead in a tie for fourth with Palatine at 348.

The Knights and Huskies meanwhile shared the number two spot at the gathering with 347s. The Bison carded a 348 followed by Elk Grove at 363, Rolling Meadows at 367, Schaumburg at 369, Arlington at 371, Hoffman Estates at 378, Conant at 382 and Wheeling at 396.

Bruning was the only golfer to crack the 80 barrier, claiming medalist honors by four strokes over View's Joe Carcerano and Knight Steve Kurka. Al Sloat of Buffalo Grove beat out Joe Tansill of Prospect for fourth place after both had carded 84s.

The rest of the medalist list had Vike Don Sullivan sixth (85), Huskie Brad Hall seventh (85), John Mickelsoon of Palatine eighth (86), Steve Bies of Hersey ninth (86) and Ron Ross of Fremd tenth (86).

Rounding out scoring for Fremd after Bruning, Sullivan and Ross was Scott Mische at 90. For Prospect, Tom Presperin (87) and Andy Bennett (93) teamed up with Kurka and Tansill.

Hersey had an 87 from Chris Duros and an 89 from Steve Meyer to go with the efforts of Hall and Bies. For the Falcons, Mike Suhanek followed Carcerano in with an 87 and Steve Ford and Mike Carroll added 89s to the cause.

High scores fail to keep Hawks from state tourney

Harper golfers came up with their poorest collective effort of the season Tuesday but it was still good enough to win them a berth in the state junior college playoffs later in the month.

"I was really worried for a while," explained Hawk coach Roger Bechtold in recalling the scores mounting up at Joliet's Wedgewood layout. "Fortunately for us, the winds were high and the course was playing very fast and no one else was playing exceptionally well either."

Lake County did play well enough to win the NJCAA sectional qualifying tourney, firing a 322. Harper, one of the teams favored to scoop up top honors, meanwhile slipped to fourth place at 340 while Joliet and DuPage deadlocked for second with 337s.

The top five squads advance to the state finals, also at Joliet, Oct. 28-29.

Thornton rounded out the qualifying list by shooting a 341.

Heading up the Hawk effort was Kevin Eakins. His 81 tally tied for fifth on the medalist list and he subsequently won that slot in a playoff. Tom McEnerney contributed an 82 to the Hawk cause while Jim Arden posted an 88 and Mike Fitton and Dave Nelson had 89s.

One of the members of the triumphant Lake County unit now heading for the state finals is former Prospect standout Craig Ridley. He fired an 82 Tuesday.

Also gaining advancement were those golfers aomng the top 22 individuals not belonging to one of the qualifying teams. Former Palatine star John Lonergan, now playing for Mayfair, fell in this category by carding an 83.

Bob Richards to speak at Illini meeting

The Rev. Bob Richards, two-time Olympic pole vault champion who earned two degrees from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, will be the featured speaker at a Chicago area meeting of alumni Nov. 2.

He will give an after-dinner talk on "The Positive Lean" at the Holiday Inn, Hillside.

Richards earned a BA in 1947 and an MA in 1948 from UIUC while he was beginning his rise to international prominence as an athlete. He competed in track and field events of the 1948, 1952 and 156 Olympics. In 1956, he became the only pole vaulter to win two Olympic gold medals, an achievement which has not been matched.

Reservations for the workshop and dinner at $6.75 per person can be secured from Dean Cyrus Mayshark, 107 Huff Gym, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. 61801.

Girls soccer tourney

The Chicago Kickers, a team comprised of Maine West players, and an entry from Hoffman Estates will be among the dozen squads participating in the Girls Soccer Tournament Saturday, Oct. 18 and Sunday, Oct. 19 at the Oakbrook Polo Grounds in Oakbrook, Ill.

The games will begin at 11:30 a.m. and feature clubs from Green Bay and Milwaukee as well as St. Louis. Maine West girls competing for the Chicago Kickers include Agnes Bachmeir, Debbie Bear, Debbie Carlstrom, Kim Garcia and Sue Gancarnz. Maine West grads are Gertrude Bachmeier and Denise Beam while other members are Margie Hirsh, Gennia Hagen, Sarah and Theresa Ganshirt, Pat and Linda Sudeadarf, Helga Wenson, Monica Ruderschmidt and Karin Mueller.

If area cross country teams haven't "put it all together" by this Saturday morning, then they can forget about the season until 1976.

District meets will be run at 24 sites around the state beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday with the top five teams and the top 10 individuals qualifying for the sectional meets the following week. It all leads to the state meet Nov. 1 in Peoria.

Local high school harriers will be competing at three sites — Conant's Union Oil course, Elk Grove's Busse Woods layout, and Highland Park.

Several teams will have the opportunity to showcase this year's bumper crop of underclass runners. A majority of the area's top harriers are juniors or younger.

"This is what the season's all about," said one local coach. "The state-meet series is what we prepare for all year. The kids run for six months or more and it all comes down to this week."

Five of the Mid-Suburban League squads will run at Elk Grove, including Arlington, Forest View, Prospect, Rolling Meadows, and the host Grenadiers. The other area teams will be St. Viator and Maine West.

Favorites to qualify at Elk Grove will be Prospect, Evanston, and the four Maine Township schools — Maines West, North, East and South.

Maine West captured the Central Suburban South conference title on Tuesday with a close victory over Maine South and Maine East.

"We run up against these guys all season long and now we're just going to hit them again," said Maine South coach John Kilcullen.

The strongest teams at the Conant district will be Fremd, Palatine and Hoffman Estates. Those three teams, along with Prospect, will be running with one eye on the MSL championships to be run the following Tuesday. Schaumburg and Conant also run at Union Oil.

Hersey, Buffalo Grove and Wheeling will make the journey to Highland Park Saturday where they will run into Deerfield, one of the top teams in the state. Other threats will come from Mundelein and New Trier West in a district that will feature several outstanding individuals.

The top five teams at Conant, Elk Grove and Highland Park and the top 10 individuals at each meet will funnel into the Lake Forest sectional meet on Saturday, Oct. 25. From there, the top three teams and the top 10 individuals will advance to the state meet where Bloom High School will try to defend its IHSA title.

Local ice rink to host 1st step for Olympics

The slippery trip to the 1976 Winter Olympics will begin for leading amateur figure skaters from seven midwestern states at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena, Mount Prospect, Nov. 12-15, as the Chicago Figure Skating Club hosts the 1976 Upper Great Lakes Regional Championships. More than 200 top skaters are expected to participate in the qualifying competition, according to CFSC President Joseph L. Serafine.

The major meet, sanctioned by the United States Figure Skating Association — governing body for the sport of figure skating, is open to skaters between the ages of 8 and 21 who are members of the USFSA. Top winners in singles, pairs and dance categories receive medals and trophies and then advance to Midwestern Championships being held this December in Denver, Colo., and possibly to National Championships next January in Colorado Springs. National winners are eligible to represent the United States in world team competitions and the 1976 Winter Olympics being held in Sweden in March, 1976.

Participating skaters will be drawn from Illinois, Iowa, Michigan (Upper Peninsula), Missouri (excluding the greater Kansas City area), North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Spectators are invited to view preliminary skating at the meet free of charge. Exciting day and evening eliminations and finals to determine the best amateur figure skaters in this part of the nation will also be open to the public on a first-come basis at a nominal charge. Details concerning tickets, time schedules and seating arrangements are to be announced shortly. Randhurst Twin Ice Arena has permanent seating for approximately 2,500 spectators.

Last year's Upper Great Lakes Championships were held in St. Paul, Minnesota, with a number of local area skaters participating and advancing to midwestern, national and world team levels.

The Chicago Figure Skating Club, headquartered at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena, was represented in last year's Upper Great Lakes Championships by 35 skaters, with the following club members among the elite group of top winners in that meet and subsequent Midwestern and National competitions:

Lia Brilando of Niles (3rd, Intermediate Ladies, regional); Elizabeth Chabot of Rockford (4th, Novice Ladies, regional); Mary Joe Hermacinski of Park Ridge (4th, Intermediate Ladies regional); Lisa Horween of Chicago (5th, Junior Ladies, midwestern); Cheryl and David Michalowski of Park Ridge (Novice Pairs — 2nd in regional and midwestern); Julie and David Michalowski (Bronze Dance — 1st in regional and 4th in midwestern); David Michalowski (Novice Men — 3rd in regional); Susan Roth of Northbrook (3rd, Juvenile Ladies, regional); David Santee of Park Ridge (Senior Men — 1st in regional and midwestern and 5th in national); Scott Sherman of Deerfield (Junior Men — 2nd in regional, 1st in midwestern and 3rd in national); Beth and Frank Sweiding of Prospect Heights (Senior Pairs — 1st in regional, 4th in midwestern, 5th in national); Frank Sweiding (6th in Senior Men, midwestern).

SENIORS
CARDINALS 0, BEARS 0
In a game of arch rivals, it was a strong defensive game. The defensive line of the Cardinals, Frank Apuzzo, Gary Divito, Glenn McGinn, Mike Fleischer and Jim Graham kept constant pressure on the Bears. Steve Santostefano was a giant on defense along with his entire Bear team.

LIONS 6, PACKERS 0
The Lions roared in the second half to put six points on the board for the win as halfback Steve Anderskow tallied on a 30 yd run. Russ Jobski and Dave Gill headed up the defense while John Bolger and Angie Damiano had pass interceptions.

GIANTS 6, COLTS 2
An all-out team effort moved the undefeated Giants into undisputed first place as QB Tom Wojtkiewicz tallied the only TD of the hard fought game. Joe Natola and Phil Toepper ground out good yardage. The tough hitting defense caused fumbles which were recovered by Wojkiewicz, Howie Schiff and Tom Holland.

JUNIORS
REDSKINS 19, COWBOYS 7
Captain Jeff Hazelwood set the tempo for the Redskins by running back the opening kick off 45 yds, and then plunged the final two yards for the score. A Mike Jachec aerial to Tom Buyers for a 30-yd TD closed the first-half scoring. Hazelwood and Tom Coughlin each tallied 3rd qtr TD's. Cowboy Steve Rudnick nabbed a 2-yd pass for a TD as the Cowboys got on the board in the 4th qtr.

JETS 26, 49'ERS 0
The Jets turned Ken Iwanski loose for 3 TD's and an extra point as the offense sparkled in downing the 49'ers. J. Ketelsen and T. Prawitt each chipped in a TD to cap the victory. Outstanding defense was turned in by J. Koepke, R. Russo, D. Ochab, M. Funk, J. Mooney and A. Ruderman.

RAIDERS 26, VIKINGS 0
Mike Stathakis got his second three TD game of the season as the Raiders captured their 6th win and moved into sole possession of 1st place. Steve Hunt on a 35-yd. pass from Ernie Kuehl added the final TD, with Jon Zavadny and Ron Anderskow taking in the extra point.

CHIEFS 32, RAMS 0
The Chiefs rebounded behind the offensive line blocking of Dave Bieda, Glenn Garlish, Brendan Burke, Jim Gusky and John McDermott, all of which were the key factors in TD runs by Kevin Maloney, Tom Maloney and Scott Manning, plus an extra point by Gus Vivorito. The Chiefs red defense with a forward wall of Gregg Schreiber, John Bennet, Greg Pizza, Tim Scholten and Mike Girolomo stopped the Rams running threat. Closing out the scoring were Kevin Maloney with a 70-yd run with an interception and Darren Bowman who dashed 26 yds. with a fumble recovery.

FALCONS 13, BROWNS 6
The Browns played a good close game with the offense being led by the running of Mike Wille and Frank Tangney and the blocking of Pete Zolecki and Chuck Gerding. The defense led by Jim Ville and Dave Stewart played an excellent game. The Falcons did not submit a game report.

EAGLES 19, STEELERS 6
Down 6-0 at the half, the Eagles roared from behind the powerhouse blocking of Bred Kay, Corey Douglas, John Maher, and John Waters to move 47 yds and score on a power drive by Pat Ruane. Bob Holloway passed 27 yds to Mark Szymanski for the TD and then passed to Doug Wolf for the extra point. Mark Szymanski high stepped around end for the Eagles final score.

BANTAMS
HOOSIERS 27, BRUINS 0
The Hoosiers took advantage of five Bruin turnovers to post their 3rd consecutive victory. Hard running by Hugh Nickle and Mike Kelliher accounted for two scores while Dan Zender reached paydirt on one of his two interceptions. Bill Freiberg went in for the final Hoosier tally, on a well-executed pass play. The Bruin offense was highlighted by a 32 yd. kickoff return by Bob Olson.

TIGERS 19, GOPHERS 6
Led by QB Joe Orlando's TD, halfbacks Sam Mangiamele and Tony DeLuca each added TD's as the Tigers whipped the Gophers. Rick Toeffel scored the extra point. Scott Hansen, Kurt Paisley, and Mangiamele recovered fumbles, as Scott Skiple's blocked punt led the defensive charge. Superb offensive effort was put up by Tim Kellner, Mickey McGuire and Kevin Neal with Gopher Gary Krawchuk going 30 yds. for a TD.

HAWKEYES 21, BUCKEYES 6
This was a real defensive struggle for 3 periods with all of the scoring for both teams coming in the final stanza. The Hawkeye firepower was by Owen Hurd (7 yd pass from Rick Haaland), Tim Prendergast (3 yd blast), and Ed Cheatham (25 yd interception). Tony Beres led the team in tackles for the second straight week.

WOLVERINES 34, WILDCATS 0
Quarterback Jim Foloky blasted the Wildcats with 3 TD's as he ran for 43 yds. a 51-yd kickoff return and a 1-yd plunge. Sersen and Steinmetz brought a close to the scoring with TD's aided by the outstanding running of Moburg, Wilcox and Olandese. Defensively the Wolves were led by Koziol, Foloky, Sersen and Wilcox.

SPARTANS 2, BADGERS 0
A tremendous defensive battle ended when Spartan Gary O'Brill, Rich Glaser Mark Predovich and Bert Knuth forced a safety. Outstanding play by the entire defensive unit was backed up by Mike Majercik, David Burke, Tom Proeschel and Glen Hansen.

ILLINI 7, BOILERMAKERS 6
Illini offensive blocking by Hank Friedrichs, Paul Johnson, Matt Boyle and Matt Jenks led to the Illini score on a beautiful pass reception by big end Pete Endre, who chewed up 48 yds and a TD. Randy Strandquist brought in the important extra point. Defensively the Illini were led by Steve Treschsel and Richie Schutz who intercepted a pass and ran it back for 20 yards. The Boilermakers came close to upsetting the Illini when Dave Kier passed to Vance Webster for a TD.

Buffalo Grove

Buffalo Grove Boys Football Association teams scored five victories last weekend. The Bills pee-wee and lightweight teams remain unbeaten at 6-0-0. The heavyweight Bills have just one loss and are one game out of first. The pee-wee Bisons trail the Bills by one game. The Americans are in a first place tie in the Widgets North Division. Weekend action finds Buffalo Grove hosting the Gagewood Packers at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

PEE-WEE BISONS 26, BROWNS 0
Tim Hutchings caught two scoring passes from Brett Hardt in the Bisons' fourth win. Hutchings was named Player-of-the-Game. John Sykstus scored on three and one-yard runs as the Bisons held a 20-0 halftime lead. They rushed for 187 yards. Kevin Luthringshausen stole two passes. Defensive standouts included Jimmy McNeely, Sykstus, Scot DuVal, Luthringshausen and Hardt.

WIDGET AMERICANS 12, DOLPHINS 0
Running backs Dan Triplett, Dean Nelson and Marc Kroll teamed with quarterback Doug Nelson for 212 yards rushing and a third win over Elk Grove. Triplett scored in the first period on a 26-yard run. Dean Nelson ran six yards for a third quarter touchdown. Offensive stars included Mark Kiraly, Kevin Gurley, Mike Quinlan and Bob Birkholz. Defensive stars included Kiraly, Jeff Howard, Steve Shamash, Dean Nelson and Doug Nelson.

PEE-WEE BILLS 37, COLTS 0
Steve Maro's four touchdowns propelled the Bills to their sixth victory at Grayslake. Maro was named Player-of-the-Game after scoring on four and 24-yard runs, an 11-yard pass reception and 15-yard interception. Mike Emerson scored the Bills' fifth touchdown on a 40-yard pass play and Joel Fish ran an interception 35 yards for the last touchdown. Offensive line standouts included Donnie Triplett, Ricky Stonerook and Mike Hutchings. Defensive leaders included leading tackler Craig Wilson who had 11 plus Jim Burnetti, Frank Hayes, Hutchings, Emerson and Fish.

LIGHTWEIGHT BILLS 9, COLTS 0
The Bills gained all their points defensively during this win at Grayslake. Chuck Schnackel had an extra point. Steve Shamash's 42 yards rushing was part of the Bills' 147-yard offense. Led by Tommy Zelen, Dave Depkon, Don Thorp, Bill Bubis, Jeff Liljeberg, Dean Nelson and Todd Consoer, the Bills' defense held Grayslake to three first downs and 49 yards rushing. The Bills battle Gagewood at 6:45 p.m., Saturday, at Arlington High School.

HEAVYWEIGHT BILLS 32, COLTS 0
Fullback Arnie Richter scored three touchdowns and two extra points during a 32-0 victory over Grayslake. Linebacker Bryan Paull recovered a fumble for another Bills' score after Danny Nelson forced the play. Mark Bouska ran eight yards for another score. The Bills outrushed Grayslake, 320-55. Defensive standouts included Dave Clark, Paull, Garth Stehlik, Glen Proesel, Eric Frost and Thorp. The Bills host the Gagewood Packers at 8 p.m., Saturday, at Arlington High School.

Arlington Tennis Club inducts new officers at annual banquet

The Arlington Tennis Club will install its new officers for the 1975-76 season during its annual awards banquet, Saturday, Nov. 15. Scheduled for induction are Terry Zmrhal, president; Rueben Conrad, vice president; Ron Thomas, secretary and Fred Ruprecht, treasurer.

In addition to the new officers, Irene Borkowski, Helen Buck and Joan Schaffer were named directors. The Arlington Tennis Club was formed for the development and encouragement of the game of tennis and is open to the public from this area.

The club centers its activities in Arlington Heights and is interested and active in the maintenance and advancement of the courts and facilities owned by the local school district. The club has aided the schools over the recent years by the donation of nets, windscreens and other materials and equipment to both Arlington and Hersey High Schools.

The Arlington Tennis Club winter season will begin this week at two locations. A doubles league each Friday at River Trails Tennis Center plus singles and doubles play at Hersey Field House on Saturdays and Sundays. Both programs are weekly and continue throughout the indoor season.

The club is looking forward to many tournaments for all members, including the co-sponsorship of the Paddock Tourney, the largest in the state.

Realtors fired up for banner year

THE REAL ESTATE salespersons are charged up, rejuvenated, ready for bear. Man the battleships. Full speed ahead. Potential sellers and buyers of real estate are going to see a new them. Never mind recession-inflation, the high rate of unemployment, the predictions of economic gloom. People without money aren't customers, anyway.

In what amounted to a display of positive mental attitude, several hundred Illinois Realtors at their annual convention in Chicago last week were given a slam-bang pep talk by the most dynamic salesmen in the field.

They were told at the Marriott Motor Hotel to ignore most of the troubles plaguing the country because they can't do anything about them and concentrate with new vigor on their immediate sales tasks.

The salespersons were put in a spirited mood. In effect they were convinced they were pretty much on their own and would only have a profitable year if they work hard, beat the bushes and cultivate business. In the final analysis, the price of oil, the government's taxation policies and the pessimists in the press won't have any effect on sales if the Realtors do their job.

THE FOUR-DAY session of the Illinois Assn. of Realtors did not provide any startling news. Predictions were made but then declared unimportant by speaker after speaker.

The association flew in from Washing a noted economist, Karl Madden of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He had a lot of statistics at hand, told some funny jokes, even handled well an explanation of national and international problems as they relate to the economic situation and, ultimately, to the business of selling.

But the Realtors didn't seem to think the situation has all that much effect on them. Joe Klock, an articulate speaker from Miami Beach, called economists "guys with the three-decker brains" and "a bunch of e g g h e a d s . ' ' He wasn't referring directly to Madden, though the economist has little hair.

Several workshops provided practical ways to deal with a public that is becoming increasingly apprehensive about the ways of the world. Seminar leaders suggested a return to hard sell and a positive approach. Adapt or perish was a common theme.

PERHAPS THE most effective speaker on the topic of effectiveness was Al Mayer, a Realtor from Cincinnati, who gave the impression with his smooth talk and forthright message that he could have been an evangelist if he wanted.

Mayer urged his audience to communicate more completely with customers. He said too many real estate salespersons assume that customers understand what they are being told and that the sometimes complicated terms that a Realtor understands so well leaves a potential customer flabergasted. This sends them packing to find another middleman, he said.

When a salesman makes a potential customer feel "stupid," that customer becomes defensive, Mayer said. "He crosses his arms both mentally and physically." He suggested telling a buyer that the house they are looking at has a handsome bedroom, with room for a queen-size bed, two dressers, etc., instead of merely stating the room is 16 by 14. "Talk in mental-word pictures," he advised.

Klock, who doesn't put much stock in predictions, made his own "fearless forecasts," insisting "business will be great (pause) for some of us and can be great for all of us." He said the real estate business is "on the brink of a great fantastic boom" and that Realtors who are prepared mentally will take advantage of the situation to the fullest.

"IT DEPENDS," he said, "on if we learn our lesson. We must learn how to sell in the 'now' market. Then Joe's fearless forecast is what it will be." He said salesmen must have a "spirit of belief," that there should be "no thumb sucking," but strong action.

Klock said inflation isn't so bad that Realtors can't cope with it. He said limitations can be overcome and that things aren't always as bad as they seem.

He pointed to the high cost of loaning money charged by savings and loan associations during the tight money period. While the "points" in Illinois last year were up to as much as 7 per cent of the loan, points were up to 21 per cent at the height of Missouri's last credit crunch. The U.S. has suffered double-digit inflation but South America has gone through triple-digit inflation. Tokyo land is going for $94 a square foot. Everyone adjusted to the times, he said.

Klock said Realtors must forget about the nation's general problems and concentrate on selling. "Let's not worry ourselves sick," he said. The market will be the same, he added, after the Arabs decide the price of oil and the government decides how much taxes we'll pay. "We must starve the problems, feed the opportunities."

The speaker said all salesmen should "exaggerate our face to the public. Get them (the buyer) by the hand and show them the benefits of owning a home," Klock urged.

THE AUDIENCE substantiated his claims that they had better sales than last year, that they sold in greater dollar volume, that home buying has major tax benefits, that home buying is the best way to beat inflation, that it is the best forced savings plan and that the average person doesn't understand all this.

The news media, especially newspapers, came in for much of the blame for a negative attitude among the general public, according to Klock's reasoning.

"If unemployment is at 7.8 or 9 per cent it doesn't affect 90 per cent of the market," he said. "People don't say, 'If New York goes broke should I buy a house?' " It's all right to believe there is an energy problem "but you don't talk about it." He suggested the salesmen "saturate the newspapers with good news" about real estate. "The message is, owning a home is the greatest thing since sliced bread."

Madden, who has an impressive list of credentials, said the general uncertainty of the times is turning off potential home buyers.

"People are dissatisfied with business, you know they're dissatisfied with you; with doctors, especially the AMA; they are very dissatisfied with politicians, advertisers, teachers. They distrust people in authority."

HE SAID THE average consumer "can hardly buy a new house" with prices where they are. And the change in family structure needs a new response from Realtors. "The average family size is now three people. How are you going to sell three people a five-room house?"

The economist said studies indicate that anyone who thinks economic recovery is based on a strong housing recovery is "placing their feet in quicksand." People will spend their money for other things, like home renovation or travel.

He told the Realtors they would have to be good marketers if they are to convince people to buy. Outside factors, like restrictive government policy, may cramp their style, but things should get better. "Not only is 1976 the Bicentennial year," he said, "but it's divisible by four."

'Super suburbanization'

State migration trends reversed: geographer

Migration streams within Illinois have reversed themselves as more people move from the city to the country and from the large city to the small city, a geographer says.

For decades, the flow was from the country to the city and from the small city to the large city, said Curtis C. Roseman in an article in the current issue of the Illinois Business Review.

"Small towns and rural areas near metropolitan centers seemed to be capturing most of the migration outward from metropolitan area in the early 1970s," Roseman said. "Yet, there were some observable shifts from the metropolitan areas to more isolated rural areas, as in the case of migration from the Chicago area to southern Illinois."

ROSEMAN, A professor of geography at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, said that within Illinois, the migrations of 1955-60 toward the metropolitan areas — especially East St. Louis, Peoria and Chicago — tended to reverse themselves in 1965-70.

He said the growth of the suburbs and the associated "super suburbanization" caused the reversal. He described "super suburbanization" as a movement from a metropolitan area to small towns and rural areas within reach of the suburbs but at a considerable distance from the city center.

The rural to urban population movements peaked in the 1950s, he said, occurring in every region of the nation. Major regional centers drew from their respective regions, and major migration streams led from the rural south to the cities of the East, Midwest and West.

In Illinois, for example, people tended to move from particular communities in western Tennessee to Decatur, and from areas of northeastern Arkansas to Rockford, Roseman said.

SIX DISTINCT patterns emerge from census date for the 1965-70 period, Roseman said:

- The rural-to-urban migration slowed;
- Although the migration between cities still was important, many smaller cities started to gain population from larger cities;
- The exodus from central city to suburb continued at about the same pace;
- "Super suburbanization," from metropolitan areas to small towns and rural areas nearby, intensified;
- Some reversals of rural to urban population flows appeared;
- Stepped-up migration to Arizona and Florida, fewer moves to California from the East and Midwest, and a surge of migration from California to Oregon to Washington were evident.

Roseman said Chicagoans contributed greatly to population gains throughout Illinois. In line with the "super suburbanization" trend, he said, there are rings of growing small towns surrounding Chicago up to about 50 miles from the Loop.

The quality sales team

Linda Orris

Evans names top associate

Roger H. Evans, Realtor in Prospect Heights has announced that Linda Orris is September saleswoman of the month.

Roger H. Evans, Realtors, is a member of two multiple listing services.

Broker Norman Falkanger announced the opening of Realty World-Falkanger Realty, formerly Homes North by Northwest at 110 S. Northwest Highway, Palatine.

Falkanger's Realty World office is part of an international organization which officially opened its midwest member offices Oct. 5.

The Realty World concept offers national TV and newspaper advertising, a training program for all personnel, and "Realscope," a means of illustrating homes for sale with interior and exterior color photos of not only the property itself, but also the neighborhood in which it is located.

Falkanger, who lives in Palatine, has been in the real estate business in the northwest suburbs for 20 years. He is active in community organizations, is a past president of MAP multiple listing, and a member of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers.

7-week course to begin Oct. 20

A seven-week course in the principles of real estate, sponsored by the Chicago Real Estate Board, will begin Oct. 20 at Kendall College, 2408 Orrington, Evanston.

Classes will be taught Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. by Micheal T. Moore, attorney with the firm of Porter and Hoffman, Evanston, and formerly with Chicago Title Insurance Co.

Moore has had extensive experience in brokerage and appraisal and has done graduate work in education.

Final class session will be Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Those interested may register at the first class meeting or may call 236-4692 for information.

Leaders named

LET'S TALK IT OVER
JERRY BOUSCHARD

Don't assume that any money you spend on improving your home will automatically be returned to you in the form of a higher price when you sell. If you remodel your kitchen or bath, or install an extra bath, or a swimming pool, it's best if you do it because you expect to use and enjoy the improvements yourself.

In general, it costs more . . . from 50 to 100 per cent more . . . to add improvements after the house is built. Anyone buying your house is reluctant to pay that extra premium. It simply isn't worth more to a buyer because it was added later.

Are you considering additions or remodeling? Let us give you our opinion on what the effect may be on the resale value of your property.

Plaza Verde will host grand opening celebration

Plaza Verde, located at the intersection of Dundee and Arlington Heights Road in Buffalo Grove, helps you get ready for the Halloween season by offering pumpkins from its "pumpkin patch" during the Grand Opening Days October 23, 24, 25. The pumpkins will be free to any child wearing a Plaza Verde headdress or anyone carrying a Plaza Verde "trick or treat" litter bag. These are free from any merchant in Plaza Verde. Four thousand pumpkins will be on hand in the Plaza Verde parking lot. Come early while the selection is greatest.

All stores will feature specials during the Grand Openings Days and each store will offer a prize drawing of a gift worth at least $15.

These stores include Eagle Foods, Osco Drugs and Liquors, Camera/Sound of Buffalo Grove, Dee's Cards and Gifts, DeWitt's Children's Shoes, Dippy's Big Top Ice Cream Parlor, The Flip Side, Geronimo Loan Association, Interior Gardens Plant Shop, Minee-Subee Village Nursery and Day Care Center, The T-Shirt Factory and Styles Unlimited - Men's Hairstyling.

Other participating stores are Reichardt Cleaners, Viking Studio Sewing Center, Allstate Insurance, Applegate Realtors and Dr. Charles C. Bewick, D.D.S.

Three restaurants are featured at Plaza Verde. Jojo's Family Restaurant, Gerry's Deli-Restaurant with both dining and carryout purchases and Cassano's Restaurant for pizza and Italian specialties.

Plaza Verde features abundant landscaping and a distinctive decor Birnbottom - That Pants Store and Gifted, Inc.

Other stores include The Great Cover Up - Wallpaper Studio, Head Quarters Beauty Salon, Hallmark Travel Agency, Home Federal Savings and designed to achieve a unique atmosphere for a neighborhood shopping center. A park-like setting was designed to suit the Chicago area weather, yet not exclude it. Brick seating benches shaded by large trees provide a comfortable resting place for shoppers during pleasant weather.

Plaza Verde will be adding another building to open in late winter. The 14,000 square foot building will be adjacent to Jojo's Restaurant and will feature small 670 square foot shops as well as offices.

Prusko named sales leader

For the second time in a row, Alex Prusko has been named residential sales leader of the month at the Arlington Heights office of Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors, announced Ralph H. Martin, president.

Alex Prusko

It was the third time this year that Prusko has been tabbed sales leader of the month. He also achieved the honor in July and May.

Prusko was presented with a plaque and a cash award for achieving the highest number of sales and listings during the month of August, in the Arlington Heights office.

Prusko started with Kunkel in January of this year as a sales associate. After several years of experience in systems analysis in data processing departments of Chicago area firms, he decided upon a real estate career while attending real estate classes at Harper Community College.

Prusko, his wife JoAnn, and their two children have been residents of Rolling Meadows for the past three years.

Sales training course offered

Real Estate Education Company of Chicago has recently announced that its 45 hour sales training program called Fundamentals of Real Estate Salesmanship-Residential will be offered three times this fall for Chicagoland real estate salespeople and brokers.

Fundamentals of Real Estate Salesmanship involves the student in role-playing various situations encountered in actual phases of a real estate transaction. Techniques and strategies are offered to handling objections and completing the sale between buyer and seller. Detailed systems of time management are also presented that enable the salesperson to maximize his or her personal productivity.

The first course this fall will be held at the Sheraton O'Hare Hotel at Mannheima nd Higgins in Rosemont on October 20, 21, 27, 28, Nov. 3 and 4, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

2 building shows slated for October

On October 21-23, the National Building Show, sponsored by The National Apartment Association and Cahners Publishing Co., will be held at McCormick Place.

One week later, October 30 and 31, the Fourth Annual Home and Apartment Exposition, sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Greater Chicago, will be held at Arlington Park Race Track Exposition Center.

Both of these established shows cater exclusively to the building industry, but they are different in scope and intent. NBS intends to appeal to all segments of the building industry including commercial construction, factory-manufacturing components and buildings, supply and distribution firms, government construction, industrial and institutional construction.

The Home & Apartment Exposition is geared solely to residential construction (both homes and apartments) in the midwest, with a primary focus on the Chicagoland market.

NBS says its attendance will be drawn from all over the world. It is working with 130 overseas consulates and embassies in connection with distribution of its literature.

The Home and Apartment Exposition concentrates on the Illinois and northern Indiana building community and limits its fringe-spread to about five midwestern states.

NBS seeks to be a total industry

NBS seeks to be a total industry show, with national and international appeal. Corporations with large distributions mechanisms may wish to get their products before a projected 15,000 audience.

Better TV pictures

Did you know that a window shade will help you get a better daytime television picture, particularly with color? Sunlight diffuses the image on the screen, so pull down your shade. You'll find you have a sharper picture, no matter how good your reception is.

Lexington Green gains honors

PICTURED ABOVE is Lexington Green in Schaumburg. One of the community's models won a first place in the Design 75 competition sponsored by the Home Builders' Association of Chicagoland.

Lexington Green, a $16.5 million condominium coach house community in Schaumburg, won top honors for its price category in the fifth annual home, apartment and condominium design competition sponsored by the Home Builders' Association of Chicagoland (H.B.A.C.), it was announced recently.

Called Design 75, the competition is considered the "Academy Awards" of the Chicago home building industry. It attracted entries from throughout the metropolitan area.

According to H.B.A.C. spokesmen, judging teams composed of newspaper editors, architects, builders and bankers personally visited each entry and made their judgments on the basis of quality, originality and value. This year, for the first time, a development's sales figures also were taken into consideration as a measure of practicality of design and market acceptance.

To Lexington Green went the first place Gold Key award for condominiums priced between $28,000 and $38,000. This was won by the development's Model "D," a two-bedroom, two-full-bath, 1,100 square-foot home priced from $35,490.

Standard features include a spacious patio/balcony, central air conditioning, a large individual utility room, individual gas-fired furnace and water heater, furniture quality kitchen cabinets, continuous clean gas oven and range, built-in dishwasher with special sound control, cycle defrost refrigerator-freezer, garbage disposer, rolled edge decorator kitchen counter tops, ceramic bath wall tile, walk-in closet in every master bedroom, wall-to-wall shag carpeting, built-in TV antenna system and an individual garage with extra storage space.

Located on 43 acres of countryside, Lexington Green includes 480 two- and three-bedroom homes, priced from $32,990 to $38,490; the Lexington Lodge and Swim club with its impressive pool and fireside resident lounge; and, scattered throughout the development, picnic areas, tot lots, volley ball courts and tetherball and horseshoe playing areas.

Open one year ago, Lexington Green already has recorded 175 sales.

The community was developed by Lexington Development Corporation.

To visit Lexington Green, take the Kennedy Expressway to the Northwest Tollway and exit south on route 53. Turn right on Illinois 72 and left at Meacham Rd. to the development. The four coach house models are open from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. weekdays, and from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

Loan delinquencies rise slightly

The month of August, 1975 saw mortgage loan delinquencies at the nation's savings associations rise slightly, the United States League of Savings Associations reported.

The August delinquency figure was one per cent, up four basis points from the 0.96 per cent recorded in July. February was the high month for delinquencies when they reached 1.02 per cent.

The August U.S. league survey was based on reports from 903 representative savings and loan associations representing about 49 per cent of the savings capital of the business. A loan for this survey is considered delinquent when the mortgage payment has not been made within 60 days of the date stipulated in the mortgage contract. All types of loans are included in the League survey — conventional FHA and VA.

The trade association pointed out that loan delinquencies amount to only one per cent of all mortgages carried on the books of savings and loan associations.

Security firm leases offices

Windham Security Service — a firm handling total security operations for individuals and companies, including property patrol and guard services, investigation and surveillance, polygraph screening plus installation and maintenance of electronic detection and alarm systems — will occupy offices this month at Woodfield Office Plaza, 1111 Plaza Drive, Schaumburg, according to Vice President James H. Anderson of builder-developer J. Emil Anderson & Son, Inc.

Woodfield Office Plaza is located adjacent to and west of Woodfield Mall in Anderson's 325-acre Woodfield Park planned commercial development.

Squassoni honored

''Woody'' Squassoni has been named sales leader for the second month in a row, at Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors, Des Plaines office, announced Ralph H. Martin, president.

Woody Squassoni

It was the third time this year that Squassoni was named sales leader of the month. He also achieved this honor five times in 1974, twice in 1973 and four times in 1972. He was presented with a plaque and a cash award for achieving the highest number of sales and listings during the month of August.

A member of the Kunkel residential sales staff since 1966, Squassoni has gained lifetime membership in the "Million Dollar Sales Club" of the Illinois Association of Realtors for having achieved real estate sales exceeding $1 million in the past five years. He also obtained the designation of Graduate, Realtors Institute for completing the three phase seminar of the state realtors association.

In 1972, Squassoni was associate director of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and is presently on their social activities committee. He also is a member of the Elks, Moose and Anvil Clubs.

He resides with his wife, Vi, in the Brentwood area of Des Plaines. They have three children.

Top tradesman gains honors

Paul Ariagno of Joliet has been selected September "Tradesman of the Month" by Realty Company of America, Inc. (REALCOA). This award is given each month to an employee of one of REALCOA'S suppliers/subcontractors. Efficiency and productivity are the determining factors. Paul Ariagno is a painter, employed by M. Ecker & Co., Chicago.

Ariagno received a GE AM/FM Clock Radio in addition to the honor of being named "Tradesman of the Month." M. Ecker & Co. will receive a plaque commemorating the citation.

DeCelles appointed

Robert E. DeCelles has joined Romanek-Golub as director of residential properties, it was announced today by William B. Kaplan, vice president/management.

In his new position DeCelles will have over-all responsibility for approximately 4,000 apartment units.

DeCelles was previously property manager for Hartnett-Shaw's 900-unit Lake Point Tower apartment building and prior to that served as director of properties for the Parallel Six Company, where he was in charge of management for seven high rise apartment buildings in Chicago.

DeCelles is vice president of the Apartment Owners and Managers Association and a member of the Institute of Real Estate Management. A resident of Buffalo Grove, he received his CPM in 1964.

Ralph Swanson joins sales staff

Ralph Swanson

Ralph L. Swanson recently joined the sales staff of Lieberman Inc., Realtors in their Buffalo Grove office. Prior to joining the firm, Swanson was sales manager for another area real estate firm, and previously served as sales manager for the Cambridge-On-The-Lake condominium complex in Buffalo Grove. He has been a million dollar salesman for the past two years in his previous sales positions.

Swanson is a member of the board of directors of the Buffalo Grove Rotary Club and this year serves as chairman of the Annual Rotary Ball. He serves on the Buffalo Grove Appearance Control Commission and on the Buffalo Grove Public Relations Committee where he is a past editor of the Buffalo Grove Newsletter.

Swanson is a graduate of Loyola University in New Orleans where he majored in education and did graduate work in psychology. While at Loyola he was an officer of two honorary scholastic societies. Ralph and his wife Rene live at Cambridge-on-the-Lake in Buffalo Grove and have lived in the northwest suburbs for more than 15 years.

Real estate course to begin

Under current State of Illinois requirements, a person who is interested in becoming a real estate salesman in the State of Illinois must complete a 30-hour Basic Real Estate Transactions course from an approved school in order to be eligible to take the state real estate salesman's license examination. D'Ann McClain, director of training and administration, Real Estate Education Company has released the schedule of classes to meet these requirements. "I'm very pleased to announce that we will begin October classes in seven different locations throughout the State," McClain said. "Five of these classes will be held throughout the Chicago area in Alsip, Oakbrook, Palatine, Winnetka, and the near northside."

The course, approved by both the Department of Registration and Education and the State of Illinois Office of Education, consists of 30 classroom hours of training in compliance with the state requirements. Of the students of Real Estate Education Company who successfully completed this course, 92 per cent have passed the state licensing examination.

On October 27, at 6:30 p.m., evening courses will begin at the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, Northwest Hwy. and Route 53, Palatine.

Appointment made

Paul Baio has been appointed corporate relocation specialist for V.I.P. Real Estate, Inc. The announcement was made by Bud Berth, president of the firm. Baio, in his new position, will counsel select corporation personnel in their real estate needs.

Baio served as general manager of sales and marketing for the GRT Corp. for 20 years, and was selected as Man of the Year for 1972 and 1973.

V.I.P. Real Estate operates offices in Buffalo Grove and Wheeling and services the entire northwest suburban area in residential, commercial and investment real estate.

Park Lane townhomes near completion

A cluster of large and well-designed townhomes in a setting of mature trees, rich landscaping and shimmering lakes is nearing completion at Park Lane in Park Ridge.

Twelve units, priced from $135,000 to $150,000, have been completed by The Venterra Group, Ltd. in the $35 million environmental community, at 333 N. Talcott Road in the suburb. Seventeen are planned.

The townhomes, which contain 3,900 square feet of space including a full basement plus a two-car garage, are contained in four buildings of four to five residences. They are located at the southeast portion of the 18-acre site.

According to the developer the townhomes have been designed as a visual bridge between the single-family homes which surround the new complex and the mid-rise buildings which will be on the interior of Park Lane. While all of the townhomes are of two-story design, the arrangement of one-story side garages or front garages where roof eaves slope to the first story level create the appearance of one and two-story designs.

Further integration of the buildings in and near Park Lane with the natural elements, especially an elaborate landscaping plan designed and currently being installed by Theodore Brickman Co., is enhanced by natural brick and wood with shingle roofs.

Two basic plans are available: one is a two-bedroom model with leisure room and den and the second offers three bedrooms with a leisure room and den.

Both styles accentuate big rooms, a well-designed plan that provides an efficient traffic pattern and privacy and space flexibility. For example, there are both formal and informal living rooms on the first floor, a separate formal dining room and a large breakfast area.

A recessed front entry opens to a two-story foyer with a U-shaped staircase and a skylight that floods the area with natural light. A large guest closet and a convenient powder room serve the foyer.

To the right of the entrance foyer is a 26 by 15-foot sunken L living room with an elegantly trimmed wood-burning fireplace, a spacious window wall overlooking a front garden, and sliding glass doors to the rear patio.

For more casual activity there is a sunken leisure room of approximately 13 by 13 feet to the left off the foyer. Also to the left, just beyond the powder room, is the full-equipped, custom designed corridor-type kitchen. At the far end of the kitchen is a 9½-by 8-foot breakfast area that opens to the dining room through elegant double doors. The two-car garage opens to the leisure room and has a separate entrance to the rrst patio.

A huge master suite dominates the second floor.

The "bedroom" portion measures almost 17 by 15 feet and there is a sitting alcove containing another 77 square feet. The master bath has compartmentalized toilet, shower, bath and grooming areas and large his and hers walk-in dressing closets.

A second bedroom is 15 by 11 feet. What might ordinarily be labeled the third bedroom is a multi-purpose room which the developer expected will be utilized in a variety of ways. The 13½ by 11½ foot area is shown on the plan as a library or sewing room but will just as easily function as an art studio or guest room. This room contains a laundry closet. Both rooms are served by a second full bath.

Security and privacy are provided by an array of mechanical and electronic devices. An estate-type fence surrounds the property, which has an eight-person, around-the-clock security force. The main gatehouse has both telephone and closed circuit television connecting to the townhomes providing both visual and audio contact. There is also a sophisticated electronic system that combats intrusion, detects heat and smoke, and is connected to both the gate house and municipal police and fire departments.

Townhome owners also belong to a homeowner's association which will provide for complete maintenance, including building exterior, landscaping, lawn care, leaf and snow removal. They will also belong to a community association which will own and operate all recreational facilities, security systems, and a commissary which will include a gourmet food and wine shop.

To visit the townhomes of Park Lane, which also offers condominium residences, take the Kennedy Expressway to the North River Road exit. Proceed north about one mile to Touhy Ave., go east about ¼ mile to Talcott road (Route 62) and go north about ½ mile to the information center.

THE SPACIOUS BRICK and wood townhomes of Park Lane in Park Ridge form a visual bridge between nearby homes and mid-rise buildings on the interior of the planned $35 million environmental community. While all of the townhomes, which have skylighted stairwells, are of two-story design, the arrangement of side and front garages with roof eaves sloping to the first-story level creates the impression of one-and two-story homes.

Community service board available

The merchants of Northpoint Shopping Center have made available to any local non-profit organization or club the use of one of the display cases located in the central area of the center.

The case is six feet high and 24 inches wide, 58 inches long and it is completely enclosed by glass.

Clubs may use this case to advertise special projects, display information pertaining to their organization, announcements of coming events, etc. Interested persons should contact Julane Sullivan at 449-7268 or leave a message at John M. Smyth in Northpoint Center (259-6800).

From the Colonial Time . . .

Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere,
On the eighteenth of April in Seventy-five Hardly a man is now alive
Who remembers that famous day and year."

The proud achievements of Paul Revere and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow could hardly have been improved upon, even with the advantage of hindsight. The house pictured above can be built for you and your family in the year of 1975 — two hundred years after the shot was fired at Concord Bridge.

If you are interested in building this house or would prefer some other exceptional residence of Georgian, French or Tudor origin in the price range of $125,000 and upwards and would like to make the building process a pleasant experience, we invite you to call us for an appointment.

More Room for Rent.

Some renters could use a little extra room. If you're one of them, you'll find that Country Knoll is everything you've hoped for and more.

Here you can get the additional space you need in our 3-bedroom, 2-bath apartment. So you'll have room to do the things you've been wanting to. You'll get a lot more room for just a little more money.

The same apartment gives you a master bedroom suite with walk-in closet. There's a separate pantry too. You also enjoy wall-to-wall carpeting, individually-controlled heat and air conditioning and a private, 22-foot patio or balcony.

Outside are trees, hills, acres of space and tennis courts. For indoor fun, there's a clubhouse with lounge, game room and men's and women's saunas.

Country Knoll offers a continuing program of social activities, including organized card games. Visit our furnished models. Sorry but no dogs, please.

Fabbrini joins Brian Properties

Joseph Fabbrini

Joseph Fabbrini has joined Brian Properties, Inc., commercial and industrial Realtors in Arlington Heights. The appointment was announced by Jack Whisler, president of Brian Properties, Inc.

A resident of Hoffman Estates, Fabbrini has been involved in merchandising in the Schaumburg area prior to his joining the Brian organization.

Scott Whalen gains honors

Terence A. Bolger has announced that Scott Whalen has been named "Salesman of the Month" for August. Whalen has held this honor for the third time in four months since joining T. A. Bolger, Realtors Wheeling-Buffalo Grove office.

Whalen and his wife, Angel, and their two children, presently reside in Elk Grove Village.

Matanky completes course

Eugene Matanky, president and general manager of Eugene Matanky and Associates Inc., with the main office at 5250 Broadway, Chicago, has attended and completed his final course for designation as a Certified Real Estate Securities Sponsor.

Matanky completed the course in Marketing Real Estate Securities given by the Real Estate Securities and Syndication Institute of the National Association of Realtors. In February he successfully completed a Syndicate Marketing Course.

The firm has been putting investors into collective ownership of real estate for many years with its partner and property managerial experience to guide such syndication.

Matanky has four other major real estate designations to his credit. Recently he earned the coveted Certified Commercial Investment Member (CCIM) after eight years of study.

He previously graduated as a Certified Property Manager (CPM), a Graduate, Realtors Institute (GRI) and a Certified Realtor Broker (CRB).

Guidebook available

Varying and complex federal rules regulating employer-employee relations are fully explained in a new book — 1975 Guidebook To Labor Relations published by Commerce Clearing House.

Covering federal statutes regulating union-management-employe relations, this book is aimed at providing quick reference on the basic principles of labor law. The volume reflects the rules and policies of major decisions handed down by the federal courts and the National Labor Relations Board.

This fifteenth edition of the guide charts a clear course through today's labor relations maze to put the rules in sharp focus and is designed to meet the need for a plainly written explanation of the general principles of labor law and the important rules developed under the statutes and decisions, CCH said. The text is sufficiently detailed to assist in answering troublesome questions, yet concise enough for quick reference.

Topics covered in the 392-page Guidebook include labor objectives and labor rights, collective bargaining, mediation and conciliation of labor disputes, strikes, picketing, boycotts, injunctions, damages, reporting requirements for unions and control of their affairs and criminal penalties.

The Guidebook is compiled by the editors of CCH's Labor Law Reports which publish unfolding developments on labor relations, wages, hours and related control measures.

Gerry's Deli to open Oct. 23

Gerry's Deli-Restaurant, located in the Plaza Verde Mall in Buffalo Grove, will open Oct. 23.

Gerry's will be serving breakfast, lunch and dinner as well as late-night snacks.

A complete deli counter, including lox, bagels, rolls and barrels of bulk pickles, nuts and candies will be featured. The deli will prepare both dairy and meat party trays and will provide delivery service. Beer and wine will also be available.

"My family has been in this business for two generations and we're looking forward to providing good Jewish-style food in the northwest suburbs," said owner Gerry Geffen.

HOW DOES WATER GET TO THE TOP OF A TREE?

Every living cell in a tree needs water to carry on its daily duties. But all this water must be hauled up from the ground to the topmost twigs. This seems downright impossible, but it does on every day, quietly and successfully.

In the world of nature, the enormous jobs are often done in small stages. When the job is very important, more than one method may be used. The most important job on earth is to keep the plant world in thriving condition. For the plants provide the world's oxygen plus food for all living things.

A tree is made of countless little living cells. In order to carry on its chemical operations, each cell needs an endless stream of water. The tree's roots must absorb this moisture from the ground — from there it is hoisted to the top. Part of the work depends on the natural behavior of water. Another part depends on the behavior of liquid solutions.

Strings of water molecules tend to cling together and slither around, playing follow the leader. This is why water is a runny liquid, flowing around wherever it can. As the air evaporates water vapor from pores in the leaves, chains of water molecules tend to move up and occupy the vacant cells. This goes on in countless small cells so that gallons of water are drawn up the tree.

The tree has another system called osmosis in case the evaporation fails. It works when two liquid solutions are separated by a thin membrane. The weaker solution, with fewer dissolved chemicals, seeps through the membrane and joins the stronger mixture.

Living cells inside the tree are stuffed with a rich solution of liquid sap — and their cells walls serve as a weaker solution of dissolved chemicals. Obeying the rule of osmosis, the ground water seeps through the cell walls to join the stronger sap inside. Drop by drop, this hoists a steady stream of water from the ground to the treetop.

Both operations go on with no coaxing at all, and the whole thing is done in small stages. Osmosis pushes the water upward from cell to cell. Evaporation releases mini-molecules of water vapor from the leaves, and this pulls up chains of water molecules from below. On a sunny day, by quietly pushing and pulling, a tree may hoist hundreds of gallons of water high above the ground.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Kelly Joyce Bates, 8, of The Pas, Man., Canada, for her question:

HOW DO THEY GROW BANANAS?

A banana tree grows just one big bunch of bananas — and then withers away. There are no banana seeds to plant, but a new tree must grow every year or so. This is possible because the grown-up tree sends up a few little shoots from its roots. When one of these shoots is cut off and planted in fresh soil it begins to grow. After about a year, it is ready to grow a bunch of bananas and sprout a few shoots near the ground.

Actually the banana plant is not a real tree because it does not have a solid trunk. What looks like a trunk is a huge roll of stiff, folded leaves. As it grows, huge green leaves poke out from the top, like a spreading umbrella. At last, a long stalk dangles down from the top. It sprouts flowers that turn into fistfuls of bananas. It takes a strong man to lift the big golden bunch, and the tree may be 25 feet tall.

Finesse to the West wins extra trick

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

Today's game would have been easier to bid if Holmes and Watson were using the Jacoby transfer, but that bid had not been invented in their day.

Anyway, Watson found himself in three notrump and proceeded to demonstrate that he had learned about safety from the master.

His jack of clubs won the first trick. A careless player would have played out high hearts. After that suit failed to behave he would have cashed three spades, stopping in dummy. With spades misbehaving also he would have fallen back on the diamond finesse to wind up with only eight tricks assuming the defense had been on its toes.

Watson found a better line of play. At trick two he entered dummy with a spade, led a low heart and stuck in his 10. When this worked he had 10 tricks in top cards and managed an 11th by end-playing West. If the finesse had lost he would still have made his contract since West would not have been able to run his clubs.

The black sheep of Canadian liquors.

There's a breed of men with gypsy blood. Like these men, Yukon Jack is a black sheep, a liquor that goes its own way.

Soft-spoken and smooth, Yukon Jack is unlike any Canadian spirit you've ever tasted. Its hundred-proof potency simmers just below the surface.

Straight, on the rocks or mixed, Yukon Jack is a taste born of hoary nights when lonely men struggle to keep their fires lit and their cabins warm.

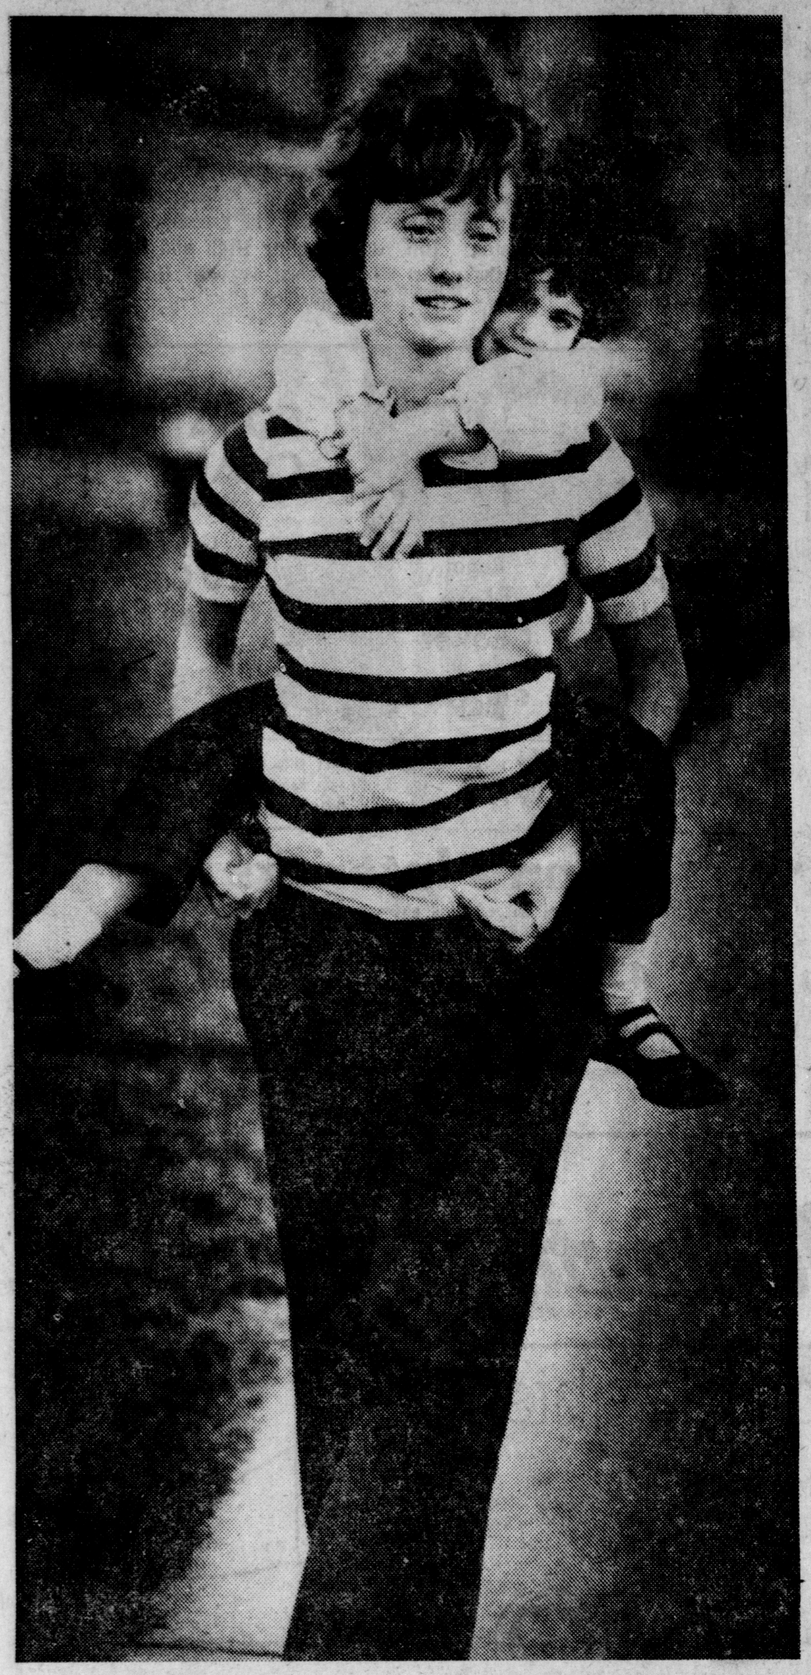
suburban living



AS A WORKING mother and a single parent, Ann Finney wanted an easy-to-care for home so she'd have plenty of time for Sarah. Her choice: a quadroplex. It cost less than a single dwelling.

DAINTY PINK and white ruffled draperies sewn by her grandmother complement the pink and white color scheme in 5-year-old Sarah Finney's bedroom. The rocking chair's an antique and the cradle belonged to her mother. A metal headboard on Sarah's bed and her chest of drawers also date to Mrs. Finney's childhood, both painted white, and the spread on the bed is pink.

A 'quad' fits her needs

by BILLIE BACHHUBER

Convenience, comfort, simplicity and economical living.

Ann Finney's quadroplex — or townhouse condominium — has all this and more for Ann and her 5-year-old daughter, Sarah.

The two enjoy a sweeping view of commonland park where they walk, picnic, and Sarah plays with her friends. And a lake sparkles with sailboats, fishermen and wild and domestic ducks in summertime, skaters in winter. With the expansive, changing skyline as backdrop, this panorama is visible from Ann's extra wide windows that let in the outdoors and lend spaciousness inside.

"I love the openness, and with lots of small children here, it's a good place to bring up Sarah," Mrs. Finney said. Too, Sarah has just started kindergarten, and school's only a hop, skip and jump away.

CONDOMINIUMS AND attractive one-family homes nearby blend with quadroplexes in a pleasant residential setting. Ann's three-bedroom "quad" is one of about 18 buildings with 72 living units at this location in Elk Grove Village. Two of the four-unit buildings are two-story homes and two are ranch style; one located over the garage section, the other at ground level.

Mrs. Finney chose a ranch at ground level. There are no neighbors either above or below and a double wall barrier keeps out noises and insures complete privacy, she noted.

Townhouse or "quad" living suits Ann's lifestyle perfectly. Working mother and single parent, Ann is patient and public relations officer at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights. She graduated from Knox College in Galesburg, Ill.

Mrs. Finney enjoys both roles. On the job she works hard. At home, she relaxes as much as possible. "This place is convenient, comfortable and easy to care for. I can walk out any time and know everything will be all right."

Member of the Home Owners Association which hires landscaping maintenance and snow removal, Ann is pleased with such help except for one small complaint. "The ground crew keep pulling up the flowers I plant!" she shrugged in mock anger, then laughed.

Living the way Ann does is economical. She purchased her home complete with stove, refrigerator, dishwasher, washer and dryer. Central air conditioning, storm windows, screens, downspouts and gutters plus carpeting throughout were included in the purchase price, she said.

"It cost less to buy this house than a single-family dwelling without such equipment."

Ann recalls few domestic concerns when she moved in about four years ago, just the moving itself, arranging furniture and covering windows. Her mother sewed all the draperies.

Ann chose open-weave material in blue and green to match short shag carpeting she had selected earlier. Her mother fashioned casement length treatment for her living and dining room windows.

Because she favors simplicity and comfort first, plus easy maintenance, Mrs. Finney keeps furniture and accessories at a minimum . . . and rooms free of clutter.

"I am not a collector, and am ruthless about throwing things out!" she confided. Her decorating style is eclectic, or as she puts it, she chooses what she likes.

For her living room decor, Ann selected a loose-cushion couch with two side bolsters upholstered in gold fabric and placed on a pecanwood frame with spindled sides. She put a blue with red trim tole lamp at one side, and set a TV and small stereo on a low table opposite.

How suburbia lives

Two chairs, one a highback comfortable model in blue and green plaid, the other, smaller in pale blue reversed corduroy, are at the other side of the room. A table sitting between the chairs holds a decorative lamp of Mexican design. Bright Audubon prints decorate the wall behind the couch.

"Anything more would make the room too crowded," Ann says of her airy parlor.

The adjoining dining area is just right for Mrs. Finney's scaled-down oval table and four chairs she placed in front of a window with front yard view . . . making it pleasant to serve coffee and to visit with friends. A watercolor of the Arc de Triomphe and coaster prints of Ann's travels enhance dining room walls. She plans to purchase an old-fashioned upright piano for this room, she said.

A handy pass-through from dining room to kitchen is panelled to blend with bronze tone kitchen appliances beyond. And off the kitchen is laundry-furnace room for convenience-plus. "The house is economical to heat, and all the utility bills are low," said Ann.

Storage and closet space are ample throughout the house. In the master bedroom, Ann accents her Hollywood style bed with early American bedspread and provincial print draperies at the windows. Two favorite prints of famous paintings "Pinky" and "The Blue Boy" hang on the wall behind the bed.

Lucky little girl, Sarah. She sleeps and dreams in an air of pink and white femininity. At her windows hang white sheers overlaid with pink and white ruffled draperies, Grandma's creation. A pink bedspread and pink and white ruffled pillow coverlet decorate her bed with its white openwork metal headboard from Ann's childhood as are the white chest and toy cradle. A little antique rocker, Keane portraits of little girls with oversized eyes, bulletin board and Holly Hobby clock complete this appealing child's room Ann put together for her pretty, dark-haired daughter.

The third bedroom in red, white and blue serves as den, guest room and playroom. A wall of bookshelves holds reading material for Ann, a book lover, and there's a bed for guests. But for the most part, this room is Sarah's playroom. Toys galore and red, white and blue play table and chairs lend welcome to Sarah's little friends. "Sarah's favorite thing to do is to have her friends in."

Mrs. Finney's living quarters afford ample room for entertaining. She likes to cook, and her favorite way to entertain is to have six for dinner serving pepper steak or Pierre Salinger's chicken for an entree. Occasionally she comfortably entertains about 30 for a party, she said.

"Casual living is my style. I don't like a highly structured life."

WITH A TOWNHOUSE condominium, Ann Finney is free of worries about tending landscaping and shoveling snow, yet she and Sarah can enjoy the pleasures of their own yard. Extra wide windows let in plenty of light, making the interior seem more spacious. And the view's great too.

Phyllis Schlafly reporting for duty, ma'am

by MONICA PERIN

Here was the nation's leading opponent of equal rights for women, Phyllis Schlafly of Alton, Ill., sitting for the first time as a newly appointed member of the Illinois Commission on the Status of Women.

And ranged around the table were the veteran members of the Commission — all leading supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment: Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights; Susan Catania, R-Chicago, chairwoman of the Commission; and Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale, among others.

The battle lines were drawn.

BUT IN FACT, aside from a few small exchanges, the morning passed so peacefully that most of the audience didn't return for the afternoon session. Perhaps they should have, for things heated up a bit later on.

Chairwoman Catania, with unflappable pleasantness and diplomacy, averted potential hostilities several times. Early in the meeting a member of the audience shouted a rather inflammatory question to Mrs. Schlafly. Mrs. Catania calmly announced that members of the audience were welcome to offer comments or questions to the Commission by writing them on a piece of paper and handing it to the secretary.

The meeting then progressed smoothly, if warily, through the renominations of the current officers for second terms, and on to a report by Comr. Charlotte Waters, chairwoman of the communications committee, about a conference to consider action against sexist advertising.

COMMISSIONER Schlafly, slim in a dark pink dress, asked Ms. Waters for specific examples of such ads. Comr. Waters replied that there have been numerous articles documenting sexist ads and that she didn't wish to take time to detail them. She invited Mrs. Schlafly to attend the meeting.

Comr. Schlafly persisted: "Do you mean to suggest that ads showing women with shiny kitchen floors or clean washes are sexist?"

Mrs. Schlafly and Ms. Waters tangled again later when the new commissioner proposed establishment of a new committee on the family and employment. Comr. Waters opposed the establishment of any new committees until all new appointments to the Commission are made. She added, "The Commission should then review our priorities. The family is already incorporated into all of our existing committees and I can see no justification for a new committee."

MRS. SCHLAFLY replied that if choices must be made, "the matter of a job is a great deal more important than what kind of ads are shown on television. The statute doesn't specify communications at all as an area of concern for the Commission."

Retorted Ms. Waters: "I refer Commissioner Schlafly to section 4E of the statute. . .which refers to all women; advertising affects all women. . .it is an essential part of the Commission's mission."

Just before adjournment Comr. Schlafly, who writes an anti-ERA newsletter, for the second time brought up the matter of a story in a Milwaukee newspaper. It reported that members of the Illinois Commission had met in September with other states' commissions to plan strategy for passing ERA. Mrs. Schlafly demanded to know which Illinois Commission members attended and what happened. But apparently the story had been erroneous, since none of the members present had attended.

"IS EVERYONE here denying they attended?" asked Ms. Schlafly, to which Rep. Chapman replied that she was "delighted" to hear about the meeting and would have attended if she could have "because, of course, it is a matter of record that this Commission supports ERA."

Added Rep. Dyer: "I unhappily was not present either, but I was delighted to hear of it because I think it's a perfectly proper goal."

It appeared Tuesday that the days of easy informality and consensus are over for the Commission on the Status of Women.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Kivland

Deborah Bobek wed Sept. 13

In a double ring service with a yellow and coral color scheme, Deborah E. Bobek, daughter of the Florian Bobeks, Mount Prospect, repeated marriage vows Sept. 13 with Joseph J. Okopinski, son of John Okopinski, Lamar, Ark.

In yellow was the maid of honor, Rosalie Sorenson of Des Plaines, and in coral were the bridesmaids, Sandra Bobek of Melrose Park, cousin of the bride, and Sharon Larson of Arlington Heights. Long-sleeved white jackets topped their spaghetti-strapped gowns, and they carried lotus pods, Sonja roses and yellow Starburst mums with ivy.

Deborah's gown was of white sheer, trimmed in lace. A lace portrait headpiece held her fingertip veil and she carried orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

BEST MAN WAS Timothy Gottschalk, cousin of the bride from Arlington Heights. Ushers were Patrick O'Connor, Aurora, and John H. Smith, Elmwood Park.

The 5 p.m. service in St. Mark Lutheran Church, Mount Prospect, was followed by a reception for 150 at the Camelot Restaurant, Des Plaines. The newlyweds then honeymooned in Florida and are making their home in Streamwood.

Deborah, a graduate of Prospect High and Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, is with Procon Inc., Des Plaines. Her bridegroom, a graduate of Chicago Technical College, Midwest College of Engineering, is also with Procon.

Better Concept seeks members

A new organization entitled A Better Concept, dedicated to bringing public awareness to influences which threaten family unity, met recently to discuss the family services of various state agencies.

The group is composed of natural parents and others interested in the idea that the natural parents are the best resource for prevention of juvenile delinquency and other social ills. Membership information is available by writing to: A Better Concept, P.O. Box 405, Prospect Heights, Ill., 60070.

Haunted House invites guests

Dracula, Frankenstein and Winsta Witch will appear at the seventh annual Haunted House sponsored by Nu Rho Chapter of Delta Theta Tau Sorority. The doors will creak open at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday at 890 Schaumburg Rd. (one block west of Barrington Road) in Streamwood. Everyone's invited to stop in for a visit with all the spooks.

Entrance fee is 50 cents, with all proceeds going to the sorority's philanthropies. Taffy apples and coffee will be sold both evenings.

Guzi-Kivland rites in Gatsby theme

A summer Gatsby theme, with the groom and ushers all in white, was used for the wedding of Cynthia Marie Guzi and Michael J. Kivland. Cynthia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Guzi, Prospect Heights, was in a "Mother Nature" style chiffon gown with bodice covered in daisies and pearls. Her headpiece of daisies and pearls held a shoulder-length veil, and she carried white orchids and gold mums with baby's breath for the 2:30 p.m. double ring service Sept. 14 in St. Alphonsus Church, Prospect Heights.

In a gold, lavender and pink chiffon gown was Cynthia's sister, Linda Jaacks of Wheeling, as matron of honor. The groom's sister, Bonnie of Charleston, Ill., Debbie Daleske, Barrington, JoAnn Vazzano, Wheeling, and Joanne Stavros, Arlington Heights, as bridesmaids wore gold halter gowns with flowered chiffon capes matching the matron of honor's gown. Their flowers, of late summer varieties, matched their gowns.

THE BRIDE'S 3-year-old cousin, Julie Cox, Cleveland, was flower girl, and the groom's nephew, 4-year-old Peter Malloy, Palatine, was ring bearer.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kivland, Arlington Heights, chose his brother, Patrick, of Lake Zurich, as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Don; a brother-in-law, John Blanck, Charleston; Bill Hans, Niles; and Roger Kurinsky, Arlington Heights.

A dinner reception for 200 guests was held in the Gold Coast Room of the Drake after which the newlyweds honeymooned a week in Acapulco. They are now residing in a Palatine apartment.

The new Mrs. Kivland, a graduate of Wheeling High, studied two years at Southern Illinois University and graduated in '75 from the University of Illinois. She is now a medical social worker with Meadows, Inc., Rolling Meadows. The groom, also a graduate of Wheeling High and the University of Illinois, is with Honeywell, Inc., Lincolnwood.

by Monica Wilch Perin

In a two-part report on chiropractors, Consumers Union, publishers of Consumer Reports, recently called for federal and state licensing crackdowns on these practitioners.

Terming chiropractic a "significant hazard to many patients," Consumers Union charged that current licensing laws "lend an aura of legitimacy to unscientific practices and serve to protect the chiropractor rather than the public."

The organization urged that federal health insurance programs limit the scope of chiropractic treatment and ban all X-raying by chiropractors, as well as prohibit them from treating children.

Consumers Union based its recommendations on an exhaustive study of the history and medical theory of chiropractic, including current statements and literature of chiropractors and chiropractic associations, and studies done by American and Canadian medical schools and journals.

Highlights of the findings:

• Chiropractic theory has remained essentially unchanged since its inception in 1895: All human illness is caused by misalignments of the vertebrae and is treatable by spinal adjustment. Contrary to modern medical science, chiropractic believes that the nervous system is the master of all bodily functions and that it can be manipulated.

Actually, CU says, many of the body's basic processes — pulse, digestion, germ defense, etc. — function independently of the nervous system, and thus may continue even when a person is paralyzed. Moreover, most of the nervous system is inaccessible to external manipulation.

• Chiropractic schools until recently required only a high school education (now, two years of college), and still require only a "C" average. Studies by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and by the Canadian government found poorly qualified teachers, inferior basic science courses, absence of research and diagnostic training, and absence of hospital training.

• Many chiropractors pay practice-building organizations to proice them with hard-sell techniques for attracting more patients and increasing their income. Many chiropractors also readily conceded to Consumers Union that the progression has indulged in making unproven claims regarding its capabilities and success.

• Chiropractic manipulation exposes patients to unwarranted risk of serious injury. It also may delay patients from receiving necessary medical attention in time. Court cases have resulted from incidents in which chiropractic patients suffered mental retardation, paralysis and death from cancer, tuberculosis and spinal meningitis. This problem is especially acute in the case of children. Chiropractic claims to be able to treat all manner of pediatric illnesses and opposes childhood immunization.

• Chiropractic opposes drug treatment — which it is not allowed to administer — and has brought about dire consequences for patients who required drugs to control diabetes, high blood pressure and other chronic ailments.

• "Chiropractors use X-rays to diagnose a disease process that doesn't exist," says CU, and even if it did, X-rays would be useless because they cannot show nerve tissue. Chiropractors traditionally use 14 by 36 inch X-rays, a size which exposes the patient's entire body from the thigh up to dangerous radiation but which gives too little detail to be useful.

• Chiropractors have won from elected officials a larger measure of freedom than nearly any other health practitioner enjoys by fighting science with the voting power of loyal patients.

The entire report appears in the September and October issues of Consumer Reports.

Creasing problem licked

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: Is there any way the crease in a permanent press garment can be removed if, for instance, a hem is let down, and a deep crease in the material remains? — Mrs. F. W. Ehrensberger

Even though the processors of permanent press materials say creases once put in will not come out, some readers seem to have licked the problem. One reported dampening a sponge in white vinegar and rubbing it along the crease, then ironing it dry. It took several dampenings and ironings but eventually the fabric "forgot" the original crease. Another reported putting the garment inside out on the ironing board and spraying the let-out seam heavily with either spray starch or spray sizing — then pressing with the steamiron set at as high a temperature as the fabric would allow. More than one application may be necessary.

Dear Dorothy: My black patent leather shoes and bags are looking a bit battered with scratches here and there. Is there any way to give them a lift? — Marijean Klingman

Rub on any good black shoe polish, wipe it off, then polish with plenty of elbow grease. You'll be surprised how well it does.

Dear Dorothy: Have you ever frozen cream to be used for whipping? — Charlene Stark

Yes, thawed, then whipped, it did beautifully. Whipped cream, in dabs, also freezes beautifully.

* * *

Dear Dorothy: Our refrigerator seemed a bit noisy and somewhere in the back of my mind was the answer. It finally came back — vacuum the back. I did this with the crevice tool. Barely any noise since. — Martin Kirby

Co-workers married

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Robinson

Co-workers at Kar Products, Des Plaines, were married Sept. 13, uniting Barbara Ann Rooney of Wheeling and Jeffrey Clark Robinson of Des Plaines. The wedding took place in St. Charles Catholic Church, Chippewa Falls, Wis., where the bride's parents, the John A. Rooneys, live.

Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Robinson and is a graduate of Maine West High School.

For the 3 p.m. ceremony, Janet Ganong of Wheeling was maid of honor and the groom's brother, Scott, was best man. Bridesmaids were Constance Rooney, the bride's sister, and Mickey Friedman, Chippewa Falls; groomsmen were Marc Hooczko, Palatine, and Gerald Brown, Rosemont.

The wedding guests were seated by Glenn Robinson, brother of the groom, and Steven Nitschneider, Cary, Ill.

Clubwomen set Dominic Days

Dominick Days for several area organizations are scheduled to begin Monday. Plum Grove ORT, Poplar Creek Unit of the National Council of Jewish Women and St. Theresa School, Palatine, are sponsoring Dominick Days Monday.

St. Emily's Church, Mount Prospect, will sponsor a benefit day next Wednesday, Oct. 22, as will Quentin Elementary School PTO, Palatine. On Oct. 29, St. Thomas of Villanova School, Palatine, will hold Dominick Day.

Friends of these organizations who shop on these benefit days at any of the Dominick stores should present benefit day identification slips to the cashier so that the sponsoring group receives five per cent of the purchase. The slips are available from each group; emergency slips may be obtained at the stores the day of the sale.

Potting shed
by Mary B. Good

Many gardeners have inquired about a solution to their maggot problems, and this is the time of year to do something about it.

Sometimes when a new gardener makes his garden for the first time, he may not have broken down grass clumps thoroughly enough, and the rotting grass clumps that were formerly part of his lawn are at fault. In a new garden plot, a roto-tiller is essential (they can be rented for an hourly charge) and the area set aside for a garden should be roto-tilled three, maybe even four, times until the soil is pulverized and all grass roots and stems are picked out.

IN ESTABLISHED gardens, worms in turnips, onions, radishes are often caused by planting in garden soil that has in it raw manure or fresh garden compost that was not quite ready for use. The maggot complainants are usually organic gardeners who haven't applied their organic principles.

When compost or manure is added to the garden, it must be "finished" if plants are to be started in that soil shortly thereafter. If not, the stage is set for maggot problems.

If collecting manure from a barnyard, that manure in its fresh clod-and-straw state must be left to age maybe a year or more, until its appearance no longer resembles clods. In applying homemade compost, it is not "finished" until whatever raw materials were added — grass clippings, kitchen wastes, etc. — are no longer detectable, but the whole thing simply looks like a warm, brown coarse soil. If you buy manure, ask if it is "aged." If you buy composted soil in bags, this produce is ready to use.

HOMEMADE COMPOST and barnyard manure can be spread on the garden plot in fall (after the dead plant tops are raked away or pulled), but the compost or manure shouldn't be mixed into the soil. This material should be simply allowed to lay on top of the ground. By spring, the gardener can see if the compost is digested to the point where he can safely turn it under. If not, the compost or manure should be raked off and gathered into a pile for further aging, or another plot should be used for planting, with the former left to complete the rotting process.

It's best to wait one month between the time the compost is worked into the soil and the garden is planted. This means turning over the soil quite early in spring, as soon as frost is out of the ground and the soil is workable.

I HANDLE THE job by pulling up all dead plants and garden debris this time of year and clean up the area, giving bugs no place to winter over. I don't turn the soil over in fall. I do apply a layer of clean straw to the top of the garden bed to prevent erosion by strong winter winds and to "insulate" the soil, so it can thaw earlier in spring and thus be worked just a little bit sooner.

If I am lucky and my fall rakings were light enough to finish their composting process on the pile, I'll apply it first thing in spring and wait a month to commence planting. (If the gardener avoids adding woody stems, leaves or pine needles to the compost, or has the use of a mulcher to shred rough material, chances are the compost will be finished come spring).

IT'S ALSO IMPORTANT to remember that a variety of materials are necessary to compost-making. Besides the plant remains, some poor soil, followed by a layer of some animal product, like bone meal, dried blood, feathers, fish scrap or manure must be added to supply a well-balanced, nutrient-rich humus.

If you were a victim of a maggot invasion in your garden this growing season, you will probably not be attacked again if you roto-till your plot thoroughly now, and use only finished fertilizer on the plot this coming year. The material that was raw and may have caused the maggot problem has probably rotted in the soil by now. The maggots vanish when there is no longer any rotten debris left for them to eat in the soil. And you will find out for sure when you roto-till, and no sign of raw, organic material is visible.

A Stroll Thru Countryside

Fall's newest fashions from Robins Nest, Just for Kids, and The Mans Shop from Countryside Court, Mount Prospect, will be shown at the Sheraton O'Hare's King of Halls Room at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 25, to an audience of 600.

"A Stroll Thru Countryside" is the seventh annual luncheon-fashion show presented by the Waycinden Park Woman's Club. The cocktail hour begins at 11:30 a.m.

Table decorations will feature "Country Dolls" in calico and gingham attire and fashions will be modeled by club members, their husbands and children.

This show is the club's main fund-raising event each year. All proceeds will be donated to philanthropies such as Graceland Home for the Aged in Des Plaines, food baskets for needy families, Samuel Kirk Developmental Training Center and Clearbrook Center for the Retarded.

Donation is $7 and tickets are available from Barb Norkett, 439-6791, or any Waycinden Park Woman's Club member.

TRICKY TREATS little goblins will like

Halloween is the celebration for the young and the young-at-heart. Here are some wholesome fun foods featuring economical oats, adding a hearty texture and taste to fall-flavored treats and party meals.

HALLOWEEN BREW STEW

Makes 8 servings

Stew:

- 4 cups shredded cabbage
- 3 cups carrots, diagonally cut in 1-inch pieces
- 2 cups cubed potatoes
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 3 cups water
- One 17-oz. can whole kernel corn
- One 10-oz. pkg. lima beans
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt

Meatballs:

- 1½ lb. ground beef
- 1¼ cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- ⅓ cup catsup
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced

For stew, combine cabbage, carrots, potatoes, onion and water in 4-quart Dutch oven. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until carrots are tender. Add corn, lima beans, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Return to boil, reduce heat; add browned meatballs (see below) and simmer 15 minutes or until beans are cooked.

For meatballs, place ground beef, oats, catsup, salt and pepper in large bowl; mix well. Shape to form 24 meatballs. Place garlic and small amount of fat in skillet; brown meatballs over medium heat.

GHOST COOKIES

Makes 24 medium-sized ghosts

- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- Fluffy white frosting
- Raisins
- Red cinnamon candies
- Flaked coconut

In large bowl of mixer beat butter until creamy. Add sugar and mix until light and fluffy. Add egg, vanilla and grated lemon peel; mix well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Stir in oats. Chill dough 1 to 2 hours.

On floured board or canvas roll dough to ¼-inch thickness. Cut out "ghost"* shaped cookies that are approximately 6x3-inches each. Bake cookies on ungreased cookie sheets in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets and cool completely on wire racks. Frost each cookie with fluffy white frosting. Use raisin pieces for eyes and 1 red cinnamon candy for a mouth. Sprinkle entire cookie with coconut.

NOTE: Draw free-hand ghost shape on cardboard and cut out. Use as a pattern for cutting cookie dough.

WITCH HAT BISCUITS

Makes 16 biscuits

- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- ⅓ cup shortening, soft
- ⅔ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- Poppy seed

Heat oven to 425 degrees. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in oats and onion. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, all at once, stirring lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board or canvas; sprinkle dough lightly with four. Knead gently about 15 times. Roll dough out to 16x8-inch rectangle. Cut into 4-inch squares. Cut each square in half diagonally. Starting with long side of triangle, roll up leaving part of tip flat to form point of hat. Brush lightly with egg and sprinkle with poppy seed. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned.

HONEY 'N SPICE CUP CAKES

Makes 12 medium-sized cup cakes

Cup Cakes:

- ⅓ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup applesauce
- 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- ½ cup milk

Honey Glaze:

- 2½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons milk

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Cream butter or margarine; add sugar; cream again. Beat in egg, then applesauce. Sift together flour, cinnamon, soda, salt and nutmeg. Combine with oats. Blend dry ingredients into creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Pour batter into greased medium-sized muffin cups, filling each about ¾ full. Bake in preheated oven (375 degrees) 20 to 22 minutes. Cool. Spread tops with honey glaze (see below). Sprinkle with orange tinted coconut, if desired.

For honey glaze, combine all ingredients. Beat until smooth and of spreading consistency.

More than exercise is needed

by LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

(Last of six parts)

There is a lot more to preventing obesity than just "burning off calories" or starving yourself. If you understand this, you can eat a healthier diet that gives you more energy and still not get fat.

The problem with most programs for the treatment of obesity is that they are not designed to treat the real cause. We have been engaged in "symptomatic treatment." If a person is too fat, the symptom is attacked by decreasing the amount he eats, rather than treating the underlying cause for the obesity. Obviously, once the symptomatic treatment is stopped the person gets fat again because the underlying problem has not been treated.

Some of the problems of obesity are indeed caused simply by overeating and eating the wrong things. The fact remains that most people get fat while continuing to eat about the same things they ate in earlier years and while doing about the same amount of physical activity.

The real problem in most cases of obesity begins with how many calories you use while you are not doing anything, not while you are exercising. The calories you use at rest under standard conditions (the basal metabolism) decreases as you get older. If you eat the same number of calories you ate when you were younger and do the same amount of physical activitiy you will still get fat.

MUSCLE CELLS are active cells, busy all the time, even when you are resting. They process food around the energy circle to enable us to have more energy. A heavy laborer or well-trained athlete does use more calories at rest than a sedentary individual at rest. The difference is important and significant in terms of obesity. Fat cells are fairly inactive.

As we get older we tend to lose our muscle cells — we say our muscle mass decreases. There are many reasons for this, and certainly one of these is failure to maintain physical activity of the type that builds and strengthens muscles. Sex hormones are important. Male hormones tend to stimulate the formation of muscles, female hormones do not. The average 25-year-old man will use 186 more calories a day at rest than a 75-year-old man of comparable height and weight. This means the 75-year-old man will need to walk three miles a day just to use the same energy the young man uses resting. It's diabolical, but if you don't maintain enough active cells in the body, you will need to work harder and harder as you get older just to keep from getting fat.

You can think of the calorie balance problem as having three parts, not two. There is the point of how any calories you eat, calories in. Then, there are two ways calories are spent, calories out. One is by physical activity and the other is the resting requirement. The resting requirement is literally the body's overhead. What is left is the profit and can be spent on activity. In many people, the overhead factor is the most important.

A MAN WORKING in a sedentary office job may use 1500 calories a day as overhead or resting requirements and only 500 a day for physical activity. That's not much. While I agree it is important to improve the activity program and use more calories, the reason this man starts getting fat all at once is because his overhead requirements start going down, not because he has a further decrease in activity.

Obviously, an important approach to the problem of obesity is to do what you can to maintain the use of calories at rest. This means trying to maintain our bodies so they are strong and have adequate muscles.

It doesn't take very long to do strength-type exercises. You needn't become exhausted to build and maintain a suitable amount of muscle mass. If you diet unwisely, you can decrease the number of active cells you have. That means your body is less capable of producing energy for you and your resting calorie requirement will go down. If that is already the underlying problem, you can see the treatment will actually make the problem worse.

You can see from this problem the importance of a combined exercise and diet program in combating or preventing obesity.

Of course food intake is important in weight control. It remains true that the degree of obesity is directly related to the amount of food energy consumed and the amount of energy used. The only shift in emphasis I would like to make in this discussion is that the energy used isn't all just physical activity.

THERE ARE numerous ways individuals can plan the consumption of their calories for their diet program. One desirable system is to be on a relatively restricted intake one day and eat a normal, nutritious optimal diet on the second day.

Another approach is to make a limited reduction in the calories, not of sufficient degree to cause a major energy crisis, and stick to it longer while increasing your exercise level.

Once you've started on a diet, stick to it. Cheating on a diet is far more detrimental than most people realize. The stimulus that tells us we're hungry comes from a center in the brain. It's turned on to make us hungry when te blood glucose falls, then when enough glucose is present in the cells within the appetite center, it shuts off and our hunger stops.

This center can be reset just as the thermostat in your house can be reset. To do this, though, requires a period of training it to a new level.

French frying

If you are "french frying" do not overload the fry basket. If too much food is put into the basket at one time, the temperature of the fat drops excessively, cooking slows down, and the vegetable absorbs more fat.

Autumn vegetables can take on gourmet flair

Fall is a good time to take advantage of a variety of fresh squash in most parts of the country.

For attractiveness and taste select an acorn squash with its scalloped edges. Cut it in half and bake with a dab of butter or brown sugar, stuff with vegetables or ground meat. Or cut the acorn into rings and bake with orange juice and a sweet glaze.

When buying acorn squas see that the outer shell is sound and free from decay. Store at room temperature for only two or three days before use.

GLAZED ACORN RINGS

2 acorn squash
1/3 cup orange juice
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind
1/8 teaspoon salt

Cut off ends of squash. Cut crosswise into 1-inch slices and remove seeds. Place in a single layer in a large shallow casserole or baking dish and add orange juice. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Combine brown sugar and remaining ingredients in a small saucepan; simmer for 5 minutes. Pour over squash rings and bake uncovered for 15 minutes longer, basting occasionally. Makes 6 servings.

STUFFED ACORN SQUASH

2 acorn squash
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped fresh celery
1/3 cup chopped fresh onion
1½ cups chopped cooked ham
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon allspice

Cut acorn squash in half lengthwise and remove seeds. Place cut side down in baking dish with one-half inch water. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile prepare stuffing. In small skillet or saucepan melt butter; add celery and onion and cook until tender. Add ham, sugar and allspice. Heat.

Invert squash. Fill cavities with ham mixture. Cover and bake 15 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.

Glazed Acorn Rings

Look alike mates

Folklore statement that husbands and wives tend to look more and more alike as the years go by may be more truth than lore. A recent university study indicates that not only do married couples look alike, they tend to act alike, have the same temperament and physical problems. Researchers believe a major factor in this "togetherness" is that married couples eat virtually the same food throughout most of their lives. In fact, eating is probably the most common experience shared by members of a family.

Chocolate trick

Milk chocolate makes a good, quick substitute for frosting on cookies or cupcakes. Place small pieces of the chocolate on baked goods hot from the oven. Cover lightly with aluminum foil and leave a few minutes, until chocolate softens enough to spread with a small spatula..

MEMCO members count on value whenever they shop!

Nearly every store in town is claiming that they can reduce your family's meat bill. The problem is, you probably have to shop their "specials" in order to realize a savings. That means that you're buying what the store wants you to. Not what you want to buy.

That's where MEMCO makes the difference!

We believe that MEMCO members should be able to serve their families the kind and cut of meat they want . . . when they want . . . and still save.

So we offer Everyday Low Meat Prices. You don't have to wait for the week-end "specials," because we don't have any.

Our low prices mean savings you can count on. An entire meat case of low prices. Compare for yourself! Like thousands of other Chicagoland shoppers you'll discover that . . .

MEMCO makes the difference!

Someone special in the kitchen

by LOIS SEILER

There's something Speciale in the kitchen, and she's cooking to delight her family.

Terry Speciale of Mount Prospect admits that her primary culinary motivation is pleasing her husband, Angelo, and daughters Mary, 11, and Valerie, 8. They enjoy having her try new recipes and candidly evaluate each new dish.

A unanimous favorite is Shrimp de Jonghe, which Terry devised by the test-and-taste method. Well-seasoned with garlic and sherry, the crumb-topped shrimp are rich and buttery. She serves this as the entree for a family meal, but because of the expense limits its use to that of an appetizer when entertaining large numbers of guests.

When serving Shrimp de Jonghe as the main course, she suggests Curried Rice as an accompaniment. This is also excellent to serve with roast lamb, poultry and pork.

LEMON ICE is a perfect dessert for this savory dinner. Easy and economical, it is smooth in texture and has a refreshingly tart flavor.

While fancy dinners are fine for guests, Terry prefers the quick and easy recipes for busy days. She is a full-time student majoring in sociology at Harper College, and plans on acquiring her degree. A Girl Scout leader for three years, she also belongs to Newcomers Castaways and Couples Gourmet and serves as a cheerleading mother for Mount Prospect midget football.

SHRIMP DE JONGHE

3 pounds cooked, peeled and deveined frozen shrimp
1 pound butter
¾ cup cooking sherry
1 cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon parsley flakes
3 tablespoons minced garlic
2½ cups fine seasoned bread crumbs

In a saucepan, melt butter and add sherry, lemon juice, parsley and garlic. Blend well.

Arrange shrimp in the bottom of a 9 by 13-inch baking pan. Cover with bread crumbs. Pour butter mixture over the top, covering all thoroughly. Broil for 15 minutes at 350 degrees, or remove when top become bubbly and golden brown. If it becomes dry, stir up and return to oven for one minute. Serves four generously.

CURRIED RICE

1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups regular uncooked rice
¼ cup butter or margarine
1½ teaspoons curry powder
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
1 pimiento, cut in strips

Mix first five ingredients together in Dutch oven or covered casserole. Bake, covered, in pre-heated 400 degree oven for 45 minutes.

Cook and drain peas and mix lightly into rice with a fork. Top with pimiento strips. Makes 6 servings.

LEMON ICE

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 cups lemon juice
1 egg white

Boil sugar and water together for five minutes. Cool, Add lemon juice and stir until smooth. Place in freezer for 30 minutes for fast freeze. Remove and stir.

Fold stiffly beaten egg white into stirred ice mixture. Return to freezer until frozen solid, at least 3 to 4 hours. Serves 4.

ONLY FOUR ingredients go into this Lemon Ice dessert, served by Terry Speciale, Mount Prospect. Its fresh lemon flavor goes well with her shrimp and rice specialties.

Lower pork prices in view

A year from now, there will be more pork in the nation's meat cases, says Verlo Butz, Vice President, Pork Program of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

"Actually, increased supplies could start showing up as early as June 1976 — but the peak in volume is more likely to come in July-September," Butz said.

The increase in pork supplies should mean lower prices for pork in retail stores at that time, he observed. There likely will be downs as well as ups in pork prices between now and then. More beef is moving to market and that, combined with poultry supplies could put pressure on the price of pork, Butz said.

He based his prediction on the Sept. 1 U.S. Dept. of Agriculture hog and pig report, released Sept. 19.

Shoppers' ideas change

If an improvement in the economy occurs, the American food shopper indicates he will begin entertaining more than he is now, according to the latest nationwide survey of consumer attitudes.

The survey, called Super Market Trends, is the third in a series of periodic studies conducted by the Super Market Institute in Chicago. Earlier studies were completed last winter and one year ago.

If still more money is available to spend on food, the survey shows the consumer will begin buying more expensive cuts of meat, serving more food at meals and buying more luxury, snack and convenience items.

THIS LATEST survey shows a major change in the number of people who list high food prices as a major personal concern. In last winter's survey, 76 per cent of the shoppers interviewed in a statistically selected sample listed high food prices as a big headache. This figure has now fallen to 57 per cent.

Analysts interpret the study to mean that consumers do not expect economic problems to get much worse.

In a release from the Super Market Institute, researchers concluded, "There is a bottoming out. People have become accustomed to inflation."

However, the percentage of consumers who practice what researchers identify as "consumerist" shopping philosophies held steady. Both last winter and this summer 75 per cent of the respondents said they had refused to buy products that are too expensive.

ON A SIMILAR question 84 per cent of the consumers agreed last winter with the statement," If people buy less, prices will get lower." This summer, that figure increased slightly to 86 per cent.

The latest study shows a slight increase in the number of people who say they blame supermarkets for high food prices — 11 per cent against 8 per cent last winter.

Government still gets the largest share of blame for high prices (42 per cent down from 50 per cent last winter), but the latest study shows a dramatic increase in the number who blame no one for the high prices (35 per cent, up from 25 per cent last winter).

This latest survey is based on 1,545, telephone interviews conducted with 1,236 women and 309 men between June 20 and July 1.

Economical Italian Beef Pie

Italian beef pie is a delightful change-of-pace meal and welcome to the budget-minded person because it's quite economical to prepare.

Mix together 1½ pounds of ground chuck, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 2 teaspoons of prepared yellow mustard and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Line a deep-dish pie pan (9-inch size) as you would for a filling, covering the bottom and sides evenly. Drain thoroughly a No. 2½ size can of Italian pear-shaped tomatoes and spread atop the meat mixture.

Drizzle with 2 tablespoons of salad oil (olive oil will impart a little more flavor), then sprinkle over 3 tablespoons of grated onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley (fresh is best) and 1/8 teaspoon of chili powder.

Cover the top evenly with 1 cup of grated or diced Mozzarella cheese (¼ pound) and bake in a 375-degree oven for 35 minutes. Serve hot. This recipe will cut into 4 hefty or 6 ample sized wedges.

TO ACCOMPANY the beef pie, I suggest a tart fruit salad with celery seed dressing.

To make the meal complete here's a frozen dessert which we find very tasty. Again, it's easy to prepare.

Beat 2 egg yolks and add ½ cup of beer and 2 tablespoons of sugar. Place in a double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool.

Beat 2 egg whites until they bgin to stiffen.

Stir in 2 tablespoons of sugar and beat until stiff. Fold in the yolk mixture, 1 cup of whipped cream, and ¾ cup of coconut macaroon crumbs.

Spoon in 2½ inch paper muffin cups placed in baking tins. Sprinkle over with ground almonds and put in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator or in the freezer until firm.

This version of the popular Italian dessert, tortoni, makes 12 servings.

BUDGET FOOD STORE

GOLF AND MEACHAM ROADS, SCHAUMBURG

The Thrifty Bread Shop at the Budget Food Store may offer you tremendous savings. We say "may", because, while it's a good idea for some families, it may not be economical for others. And that's why, this week, we'd like to tell you about this unique idea so you can determine for yourself whether it offers good "buys" for you.

In the Thrifty Bread Shop, you will find Jewel products sold at a much lower price. Here's why. The moment these items are packaged at the Jewel bakery, they are given a 2-day selling date. Any breads that are not sold by that date are brought to the Budget Food Store. Here they will be sold up to a maximum of 3 additional days. It's because of that extra strict original 2-day selling date that you can still expect to enjoy lots of wholesome, nutritious and flavorful products for a time after. Naturally, since the pantry time has been shortened, it's best to use Thrifty breads as soon as possible, or freeze for later use.

What it all means is that you are trading an extra day or two of usage for much lower prices. If breads go fast in your home, Thrifty Breads will represent terrific savings. If not, they may not represent savings at all; and you'll want to choose regular bread products. The important thing to remember is that the Budget Food Store offers you a choice. Thrifty Breads or regular breads . . . choose the ones that are most economical for you!
